

Final BULLETINS

Russian Tanks In Dorogobuzh

LONDON (CP) — A Reuters news agency report from Stockholm tonight said, Russian tanks had entered Dorogobuzh, 50 miles east of Smolensk.

Vichy Ministers Quit

NEW YORK (CP) — The Berlin radio quoted a Vichy dispatch tonight as saying Pierre Laval's regime had been reconstructed and that the justice, navy and air force ministers had resigned.

Raiders Inactive

LONDON (CP) — No activity by either the R.A.F. or the German air force in the western air war had been reported by British circles up to an early hour tonight.

Nazis Desert

MONTREAL (CP) — The Norwegian press attaché said here today he had received word that 630 German deserters from the Finland front and northern Norway were placed under heavy guard after they refused to go to the east: from sent to a special concentration camp at Tromsø.

De Gaulle, Giraud To End Quarrel

LONDON (CP) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle pledged tonight that he and Gen. Henri Giraud would insure a fighting union of all French forces and end all doubts and rancor at a forthcoming meeting in north Africa.

Plane Over Rome

VALETTA (CP) — A British intruder plane from Malta flew low over the suburbs of Rome Thursday night and machine-gunned a railway station only a few miles from the city, it was announced tonight.

"On the way we passed over the Tiber and the Pontine marshes, and I wished that the big bullfrog (Mussolini) was there," said the pilot of the British plane, a wing commander.

This was the first report of an air raid in the neighborhood of Rome.

Collapses, Dies

Waiting in a line-up at the Esquimaux branch of the Bank of Montreal with other Yarrow workmen cashing their cheques, Henry Ord, 921 Green Street, collapsed and died at noon today. Esquimaux police took charge of Ord and rushed him by means of a naval ambulance, which happened to be passing, to St. Joseph's Hospital. Ord was dead on arrival. He leaves a wife and children here.

P.E.I. Plans Surplus

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — An overall surplus of $10,956 for Prince Edward Island for the coming year was forecast by Premier Thane A. Campbell here this afternoon when he presented his fourth wartime budget to the Legislature.

Boost Barney Ross

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. navy said this afternoon that Barney Ross, the former prizefighter and marine hero credited with killing 22 Japs on Guadalcanal, had been promoted from corporal to sergeant. Ross is at present in the naval hospital in New York, undergoing treatment for a recurrence of malaria contracted while fighting in the Solomons.

Hitler to Boss His Navy

NEW YORK (AP) — The BBC quoted Stockholm reports today as saying Hitler now plans to run the German navy, of which the U-boats are a major threat: to the supply lines the Allies must keep open to invade Europe.

Russians Meet Stiff Resistance But Press On

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW (AP) — Before mounting German resistance, the Red Army steadily pressed on in one sector of the western front today and halted to consolidate its positions in another, but the general pressure toward Smolensk was unslackened.

On the northern Donets River battlefield, the Russians fought bitterly against large units of Germans, the battle shifting this way and that in the Belgorod sector where, the midday communiqué said, Soviet troops recaptured two settlements they had lost previously to the Nazis.

(The German high command's communiqué today, recorded by the Associated Press from a Berlin broadcast, said "no operations of special importance were reported from the entire eastern front." It added that "the striking power of enemy attacks launched south of Lake Ladoga decreased considerably.")

(A Finnish army report, also broadcast by the Berlin radio, said 20 enemy bombers late Thursday night reached the environs of Helsinki and claimed their bombs caused no damage.)

HALT DONETS DRIVE

(The Russian midnight communiqué as recorded by the London Soviet radio monitor said Russian artillery had smashed German tank and infantry columns making new attempts to cross to the eastern shore of the Donets River east of Kharkov.

It reported Soviet troops north of Chuguev had successfully defended a height against a tank and mortar array supporting a German infantry regiment in one sector and that Russian field guns in another sector had killed more than 500 attacking Germans. Russian firepower also dealt heavy punishment to German forces northeast of Kharkov, it was said.)

It was obvious from the character of the violent battles north of Chuguev that fresh German forces were at the battlefield.

KUBAN DRIVE

In the Kuban valley, the Red Army maintained the tempo of its renewed offensive.

The midday bulletin told how the Russians crossed an unidentified waterway, fell upon the surprised Nazis, killing 200 and putting the remainder to flight. In still another Kuban sector, the Soviets recaptured a supply point settlement, seizing much equipment.

The Russians thus continued their advance toward Novorossisk and Kerch Strait.

12,000 FREED

A dispatch to Red Star, the Red Army's newspaper, said that in one sector of the Smolensk area the advancing Russian troops liberated 12,000 Soviet citizens whom the Germans had herded together for shipment to Germany as laborers.

New U.S. Director Plans Land Army To Increase Food

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Roosevelt said today that his new food administrator, Chester C. Davis, operating virtually an autonomous agency, would take up immediately the question of forming a land army to help turn out the United States' food supply.

At the same time, the President said a press conference that 550,000 farm workers already had been deferred from military service and that Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey estimates that 3,000,000 additional people on the farms would be deferred this year.

In a lengthy discussion of farm problems, Mr. Roosevelt also said the war production board has taken steps to insure a greater supply of farm machinery to those who till the land.

On the question of a land army, the President asserted this is one of the things Davis is going to take up on his arrival in Washington. Mr. Roosevelt cited Britain's success in increasing food production about 60 per cent through the use of such an army.

He indicated it would have to be recruited from among high school boys and girls and women. The farm labor supply in addition will be augmented, Mr. Roosevelt said, by the probable release on furlough of a great many thousands of servicemen. He said this would help very much in alleviating the labor shortage.

Just what size a land army would take, the President did not say.

CBC Considers Second Network

OTTAWA (CP) — Consideration is being given to the establishment of a second CBC network in Canada, but plans are still in a "very nebulous state," Rev. J. S. Thomson, D.D., general manager of the CBC, said today.

There were a number of technical difficulties to be overcome before such a second network could be established. The aim would be to provide alternative programs to Canadian listeners.

At present separate English and French networks are operated by the CBC. At times other stations are linked into a special network to meet commercial requirements.

The proposal for an alternative CBC network differs from the practice in the United States, where different networks are under control of separate corporations. The proposal now receiving consideration would provide for two networks, under a single control, to provide greater freedom in balancing the type of programs to meet the varying tastes of listeners.

Eden On Air Tonight

The address of Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, before the Maryland Legislature at Annapolis tonight will be broadcast by the Columbia Broadcasting System, beginning at 6 p.m., P.D.T.

Simmons' Appeal Opened By Counsel

VANCOUVER (CP) — Stuart Henderson today opened the appeal of Leonard Simmons, former quartermaster of the provincial police, from a conviction on charges of conspiring to defraud the government in connection with police stores.

Simmons was sentenced at the Victoria Assizes to four years along with John Graham Simpson, Victoria shoe merchant, whose appeal has just been completed. Simmons received similar sentences on two additional charges, to run concurrently.

Mr. Henderson opened the appeal by questioning the validity of the Simmons indictment.

Funeral Services For Sir E. W. Beatty

MONTREAL (CP) — All walks of Canadian life were represented here today at the funeral of Sir Edward Beatty, chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who died here Tuesday night.

A simple service was held at the Presbyterian Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul, where Rev. George Donald, D.D., said a prayer of thanks for "his high character, his public spirit, his brilliant gifts of heart and mind, for his lavish charity and above all for his untiring and selfless service to his fellow men."

Prior to the church service at 2:30 p.m. there was a private service at Sir Edward's late home on Pine Avenue for the family and intimate associates and friends.

Foresees Starvation

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dr. E. L. Nixon, former president of the Pennsylvania Food and Potato Growers' Association, said today: "I can see people starving in America before the year ends."

Kiska Japs Raided 4 Times On 1 Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army bombers raided the Japanese base at Kiska in the Aleutian Islands four times Wednesday, scoring hits in the target area, the United States Navy reported today.

The four raids raised to 25 — almost one a day — the number of aerial attacks which have been made against the enemy's north Pacific outpost so far this month.

The last previous attack was Sunday, when two groups of army bombers assaulted the Japanese position, starting one large fire.

Housewives Protest Cordwood Burning

Premier John Hart today received a wire from the fuel committee of the Housewives' League of British Columbia, protesting the reported burning of fuel wood at Oyster River, Vancouver Island.

The message from the Vancouver branch of the committee on record as condemning "the order by the forestry department of the provincial government, which is causing the destruction by burning of 15,000,000 feet of fuel wood by the Batco Development Company. This would supply 10,000 cords of fuel wood to meet the needs of the citizens of Vancouver and we demand that the order be immediately rescinded and the fires stopped."

The Premier was busy all morning at a meeting of the cabinet, but a spokesman in his office said he would give the matter his immediate attention. High forestry officials of the government are out of town today and could not be reached for comment.

Eden to Arrive In Ottawa Tuesday

OTTAWA (CP) — Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, will arrive in Ottawa next Tuesday, and remain until Friday, it was announced today at the Department of External Affairs today.

It is planned he will speak to a joint meeting of the Senate and House of Commons Thursday afternoon and on the morning of that day will hold a press conference.

During his stay here he will attend a meeting of the war committee of the cabinet and hold informal discussions with ministers and government officials.

Mr. Eden will be the guest of the Governor-General at Government House. It is expected he will be entertained at a government dinner Wednesday night.

The Foreign Secretary has been in Washington conferring with leaders of the United States government.

Accompanying Mr. Eden will be a group of British government officials who were with him at Washington, including William Strang, assistant under-secretary in the Foreign Office; Oliver Harvey, private secretary; Gladwyn Jedd, and R. J. Cruickshank.

Rommel Attacks Diminish; Allies Hold Edge In Air

By DANIEL DE LUCE
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA (AP) — Battering down fierce enemy resistance, Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery's infantrymen have won new ground in the Mareth sector of the southern Tunisian front, it was announced today.

The six-day-old struggle of the British 8th Army to shatter the Mareth Line defences apparently has not yet reached anything like a decision, but the counterblows mounted in mid-week by Nazi Marshal Rommel have fallen off.

U.S. troops of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's command repulsed a minor German infantry attack at Djebel Berda, some 20 miles southeast of Gafsa, and held firmly to that mountain on the south side of El Gueatara Pass. Another enemy attack was made on the hilly slopes about two miles south of Bou Hamran, itself 18 miles east of Gafsa.

There has been no official information for two days concerning the 8th Army's desert column which passed around the southern extremity of the Mareth Line in a sweeping flanking manoeuvre and was last reported to be eight miles from El Hamma, Axis air base 20 miles west of Gafsa.

Patton's armored and infantry detachments maintained their threat from El Gueatara Pass and through Maknassy against Rommel's coastal escape corridor, but have been unable for 48 hours to drive forward.

Manoeuvre to Drive Germans From Hills

In the Maknassy area the Americans were in contact with Axis troops in two rugged passes of the Orbata range, five miles southeast of Maknassy and 10 miles southeast of Seneid station.

Until the entrenched enemy is driven completely from the Orbata range, and Axis pressure against El Gueatara Pass, near the southwest edge of these hills, is broken, the Americans seem slated for a series of small, stubborn engagements.

Numerically superior Allied air forces pressed their attacks despite a hint that storms were brewing.

Allied fliers established a record number of sorties Thursday in central and northern Tunisia. Fourteen enemy planes were officially announced as destroyed, while the Allies reported six of their own were missing.

(British military observers in London estimated that approximately 80,000 Axis troops were within the quadrilateral area between Gabes, Mareth, Matmata and El Hamma, including the German 15th and 21st armored divisions. The Germans are believed to number more than 40,000 and the Italians less than 40,000, they said. Comparative figures for the Allied divisions deployed in that zone were not brought out, but Axis communiqués have said their troops were outnumbered.)

While German and Italian aircraft were chiefly thrown into action supporting ground troops, the Allied air forces not only carried out a similar practical assignment with overwhelming strength, but continued to blast enemy harbors, landing fields, shipping and motor transports.

Bombers Sink Ship, Damage Another

Four-engine bombers sank a small ship at Sousse, damaged a large vessel and started large fires in the dock area. Escorting fighters shot down one of an enemy interceptor formation made up of Messerschmitt 109s and Focke-Wulf 190s.

Fighters shot up motor barges off the Tunisian coast. Low-flying aircraft of the western desert air force renewed attacks on the enemy armor along the southern front. Pilots also reported 50 direct cannon-shell hits on nine Nazi tanks.

A formation of Messerschmitt-210 twin-engine fighter-bombers which the Germans have used sparingly in north Africa was caught by western desert fighters near El Hamma despite a strong escort and Spitfires shot down one and forced the rest to jettison their bombs over their own troops.

(Unsubstantiated by the communiqué or other official releases at Allied headquarters, the Algiers radio broadcast reports of Allied gains in both the El Hamma sector and on the central front.)

(The broadcast said the 8th Army "made some advance in the El Hamma area, rendering the position of the Africa Corps difficult.")

(The BBC, in a broadcast recorded in New York by CBS, quoted the Algiers station as saying further that Axis counterattacks had been smashed in this region and the British forces had completed occupation of a hill overlooking the whole of the Gafsa plain.)

(This was a reference to the flanking movement behind the Mareth Line which was reported Wednesday to have driven to a point eight miles south of El Hamma.)

"There was little activity in the Gafsa and Maknassy sectors, where the enemy made local demonstrations, but no major attacks developed," the communiqué said.

Report U.S. Gains Southeast of Gueat

(The Algiers radio, in a broadcast prior to the issuance of the communiqué, said American troops were continuing their advance southeast of El Gueat, on the road to Gabes, and also made local gains in the Maknassy zone.)

The communiqué said Axis activity was increased in the northern sector of the British 1st Army.

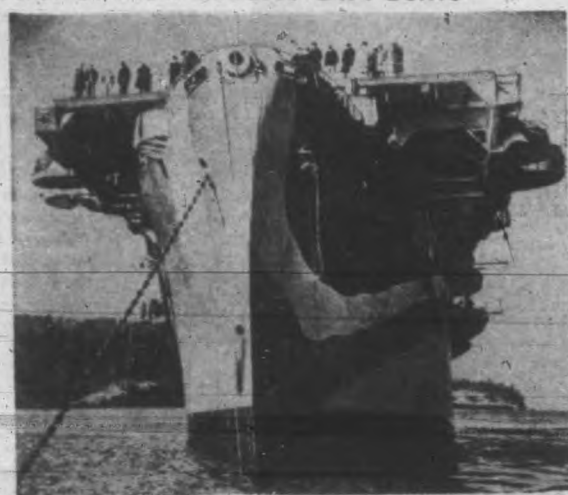

"Our patrols were active and inflicted casualties on an enemy patrol in the area southeast of Medjez el Bab," the bulletin announced.

Heavy blows by the Allied aerial squadrons, which hold superiority over the German and Italian air forces, were maintained.

Bombers attacked an enemy air field and motor transports near Sfax and Sousse Wednesday night. Fighter patrols shot down an Axis bomber.

(Axis communiqués testified to the bitterness of the conflict. The Italian war bulletin today, broadcast from Rome and recorded by the Associated Press, said renewed Allied attacks were repelled and "losses inflicted on the enemy (in an unstated period) have risen to 294 prisoners, 65 tanks and 16 guns."

First of New Escorts On Pacific

Now in service with the British navy is this new type of aircraft carrier, made by converting the hull of a cargo ship. The job of converted ships like the H.M.S. Tracker, pictured recently off a "Pacific coast port," is to escort convoys. Many more of this type of ship are now under construction at ports along the western coast.

Doctor Shortage Worse; 8 More May Join Forces

Drop from 58 to 34 medical doctors in Victoria since the war, and the immediate prospect of another 8 joining the services has created a real emergency, said Dr. Russell B. Robertson, president of the Victoria Medical Society, today.

Population in this area, he said, has increased from 63,000 to 86,000, yet 28 medical men have left to join the navy, army and air force, and no replacements are possible. Some retired doctors have come back into partial practice, he said.

"Most doctors are doing two and three times as much work as previously, many working 12 to 16 hours a day," he said. "I myself am working from 16 to 18, and sometimes 20 hours a day, and other doctors are up against the same difficulty."

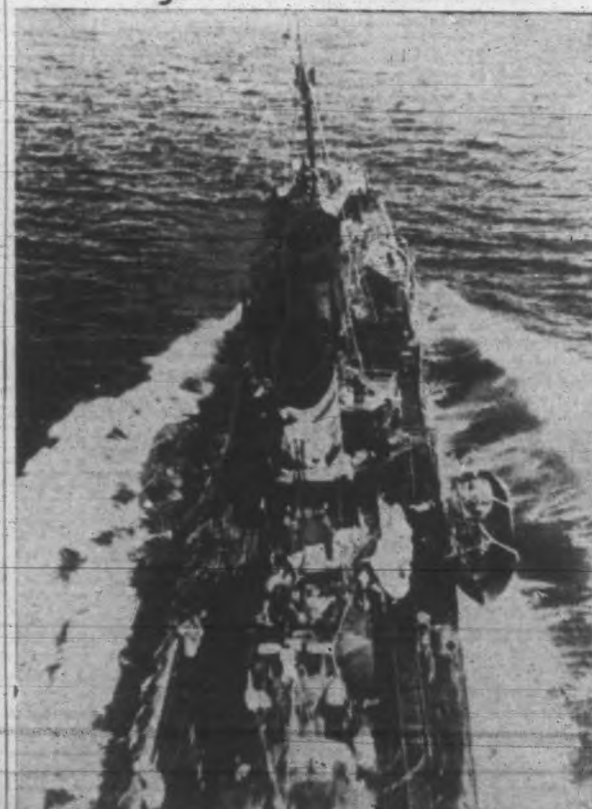

passed a resolution asking for "co-operation and fair play" from the public in helping the situation.

Dr. E. W. Boak said: "There is no need for the sick to go without attention, but it is impossible under present circumstances to give quite the attention to less serious cases."

"The Medical Society feels that if the public will place phone-calls early in the day, doctors are better able to regulate calls to take care of more patients in one area, and also save night calls as far as possible," Dr. Robertson said.

"We have to spend more time in the hospitals now. Both the Jubilee with 420 beds and St. Joseph's with 320 are continually full. Except in emergencies, reservations have to be made two or three days ahead."

'The Thing' Causes Navy Flare-up, But Censors Win

By PETER EDSON

The fact may not be generally realized, but it is nevertheless true, that U.S. office of censorship has been able to offset many forays against newspapers and the radio by government agencies which have wanted the lid clamped down on all kinds of legitimate news, under guise of war necessity for deep, dark secrecy.

Byron Price, director of censorship, made this point clear in announcing the second revision of the voluntary censorship code, tightening up on diplomatic exchange ship movements, prisoner information and identification of troops—relaxing principally on publication of war production figures.

A case in point to show how office of censorship has battled against silly restrictions broke in Washington the other day with the publication of a story on a radio device which heretofore it has been forbidden to mention even by name. Call it "The Thing."

Now "The Thing" is a truly wonderful contraption. But the facts are that the principle of "The Thing" was discovered independently and at about the same time by radio engineers in Britain, United States and Germany. Basic patents on it have been taken out in all three countries. These patents are a matter of public record and furthermore, there have been technical articles on "The Thing" in the American Council of Public Affairs, giving an excerpt from an article prepared by Dr. Lyman Chalkley, now a consultant in the engineering division of the economic warfare analysis branch of the board of economic warfare.

CAME THE STORM
The article was in the main a rather dullish economic treatise, but buried down in the middle was one paragraph which not only mentioned "The Thing" by name, but told what it did, as follows:

"Probably the most dramatic new weapon to come out of this war is 'radar' ('The Thing'), which can detect planes at night, 'see' naval vessels through fog and darkness, and do other remarkable things, many of them still secret."

When that broke, brass hats started blowing their tops all over Washington. What did Dr. Chalkley mean by mentioning this forbidden subject?

What did they mean—Forbidden subject? Dr. Chalkley would have them know that manuscript had been approved for publication by the public relations office of B.E.W. way last June!

No one in B.E.W. remembered it, so Dr. Chalkley was sent home to find the original manuscript with the official okay on it. He did.

THE FINGER OF GUILT

That put the finger on the office of censorship for passing the release from American council of public affairs which had published the Chalkley treatise in the first place. But office of censorship wasn't in the least perturbed. The official position of the censors was that they thought the subject should be treated with a little common sense. All last fall, office of censorship pointed out, the navy had been issuing full-page ads in some of the radio ham magazines, seeking to enlist the electrically-minded youth of the country to "Be a Radar Expert." With that background, office of censorship's action gave notice to the services that they were being tired of being foolish.

It might be further pointed out that the War Production Board has a "Radio and Radar Branch" which has its name on a door.

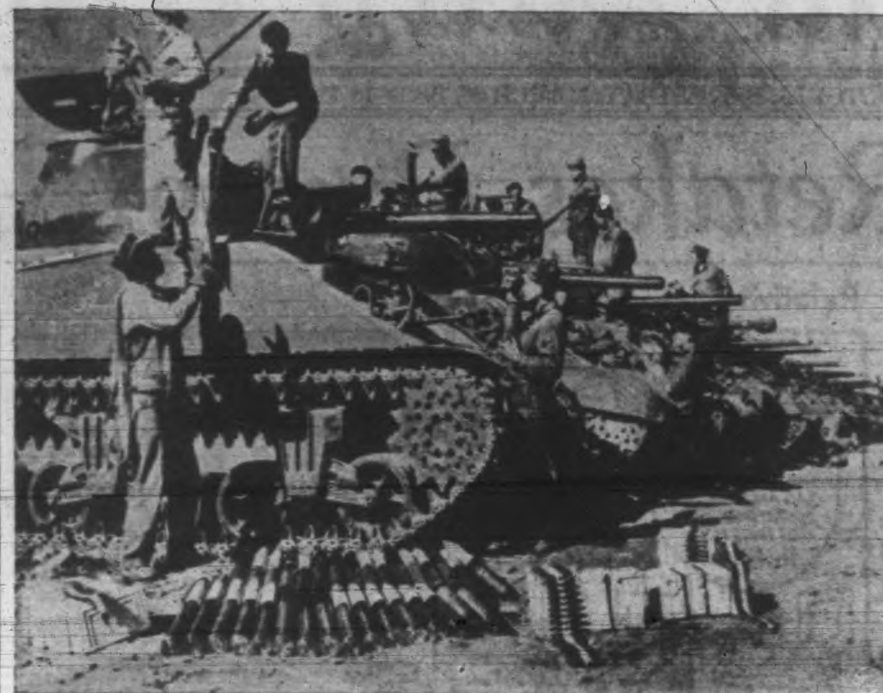

The army order putting the ban on all mention of "The Thing" goes back to last November. Specifically, it puts the ban on anything about radar operations. But to go on from there and put an absolute ban on information which has already had previous publication—that's what office of censorship objects to and is protecting the press from.

F.D.R. Reminds Son

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marines do not have much time these days to attend to such things as back home church dues. One of them recently received word from the senior warden of his church that he was behind in his normal contributions.

He replied, in effect: "Dad, if you cheque is still good, you pay my dues and when the war is over I'll pay you back."

The communicant was Lt. Col. Jas. Roosevelt, U.S. marines, then at Camp Pendleton, Calif. The senior warden was his father, President Roosevelt, of

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Chinese, who had been hoping for an Allied invasion early this year to oust the Japanese from Burma and reopen the back door for vital supplies, are bound to be disappointed as the monsoon season draws near and precludes such a major operation before next fall.

Approach of this deluge of rain is signalled in dispatches indicating the British Army of India is signing off its attempt to drive the Japanese from the Mayu Peninsula, in the Akyab sector of the Burmese coast, and is readjusting lines in preparation for the mud and flood. The downpour will arrive within the next few weeks and will last until October.

Much more than the monsoon stands in the way of a big-scale invasion of Burma. This will involve a greater water-borne expedition from India, across the Bay of Bengal, and there's no indication the United Nations have the equipment to spare at this critical juncture.

The north African campaign would have to be concluded first, in order to release equipment and reopen the Mediterranean route to India.

Big Bombs Blast Amboina, Rabaul

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia (AP)—Japanese bases 1,700 miles apart in the island arc above Australia were blasted by Allied bombers Thursday, with Amboina, 600 miles north-west of Darwin, hit hard in one raid and Rabaul smashed heavily for the second time this week.

An Allied communiqué said quarter-ton bombs hit directly on two enemy cargo vessels, one of 8,000 tons and one of 6,000 tons, in Amboina Harbor, and that flames shot up from wharf areas.

Amboina formerly was a Netherlands naval base and now is one of the Japanese strongholds menacing Australia.

For two hours before dawn Thursday, the bulletin said, Allied heavy bombers ranged over Rabaul, the enemy's northern New Britain island naval and air base, starting fires and causing heavy explosions with bombs weighing up to one ton.

There was no effort at interception by Japanese fighter planes.

Six hours after Thursday's attack, "one of our reconnaissance planes over the area observed smoke and flames from waterfront fires rising to 3,000 feet," today's war bulletin said.

Other Allied bombers hit a wharf and warehouses at Gasmata, New Britain, and one plane made seven runs over the Ubi area in a three-hour night attack, it was announced.

The airbase at Lae, New Guinea, was raided twice, and low-altitude attacks were made on buildings at Salamaua.

Allied fighters shot down a Japanese medium bomber caught on a reconnaissance trip over Dyke Auckland Bay, below Buna.

St. James Episcopal Church, Hyde Park, N.Y.

Bishop Adna Wright Leonard of the Methodist Church related this story to newspapermen in telling of a conversation he had with the President's eldest son during a tour of army and navy posts.

Women Oppose Postwar Isolation

NEW YORK—American women today are taking a positive attitude toward three big post-war problems over which a tempest, involving administration officials and critics, is now raging.

The overwhelming majority of women are in favor of post-war planning now, of the establishment of a permanent world congress to act upon international disputes, and of granting such a congress the power and means to enforce its decisions.

These opinions are revealed today by the continuing poll of women's opinion conducted by the Women's Home Companion, based on a national panel of women chosen to give an accurate cross-section of the magazine's millions of readers.

The vote clearly indicates that the verbal warfare against isolationism, as conducted by Vice President Wallace and others, has the almost complete backing of the nation's women.

Eighty-four per cent of the women in the panel, covering all age groups and conditions of life, voted for post-war planning now. Ninety-two per cent voted for the establishment of a permanent world congress to act upon international disputes.

And of these, 95 per cent voted for giving such a body the power and means to enforce its decisions.

In expressing the opinion that we should engage in post-war planning now, the women gave such typical opinion as: "If we do not plan ahead for our future needs we shall be faced with a scramble for jobs, materials and the necessities of life."

"We can and will fight better if we know what our present war aims are."

"The after-war problems are largely the neglected problems which caused the war."

In voting for the establishment of a world congress, the women made comments such as the following:

"If we had maintained our responsibilities in the League of Nations this war would not have gone beyond Ethiopia."

"America must grow up and take its place in the world. Isolation is an antiquated idea."

"We should surely realize by now that distance barriers are down—gone forever. We've wasted too many years turning up our noses at our brothers in other parts of the world."

In voting for the giving of police powers to a world congress, the women made such typical comments as:

"Any law-abiding body should have the power of enforcing its laws and decisions. Otherwise such a body is useless."

"A world police force should be established. All racial and tariff-trade barriers should be removed."

"A world congress must be so powerful that all nations respect it."

German Claim
LONDON (CP)—The German radio broadcast a claim from the International Information Bureau today that British torpedo boats were attacked off Dieppe, France, Thursday night and that one craft was sunk and others were hit.

The International Information Bureau, a German news and propaganda agency, carries stories which D.N.B., the German news agency, does not wish to report on its own authority.

There has been no confirmation of the story from Allied sources. The German broadcast claimed the boats were intercepted while en route to attack German sea convoy routes.

Meat Rationing In U.S. Brings End Of Dinner Invitations

By J. ANDERSON

NEW YORK (CP)—C'mon up to dinner at our house next week. You'll bring your own meat, of course.

It would be nice—although it wouldn't be expected of you—if you brought a suitable gift for your hostess, say a large can of peas or a bottle of fruit juice. (You'd know those are the things she buys only as an occasional treat.)

You can be assured of a pat of butter—but don't leave any on your plate and don't ask for seconds—and you know by now not to put more than two spoons, full of sugar in your cup of tea.

(You won't be served coffee as, really, one pound every six weeks doesn't go very far.)

You'll "fill up" on fresh vegetables and for dessert you'll have quick-frozen fruits (they're reasonable).

Throughout the United States as it prepared for meat rationing Monday the talk today was of the probability of new rules of etiquette springing up to govern dining-out. It seemed certain that, under meat rationing regulations which allow only about two pounds of meat or cheese and about a half-pound of butter weekly, the custom of inviting friends in to dinner will be dropped for the duration.

MEAT PROBLEM

Accentuating the rationing problems of the average housewife is an acute shortage of meat. Particularly serious is the shortage in New York City, with an estimated 75 per cent of the city's butcher shops out of supplies. Trade authorities predicted consumers will be unable to obtain meat when point rationing begins Monday. Reports of similar shortages have been received from other cities.

Necessary equipment in the housewife's shopping bag these days is pencil and paper. For as she moves about a store choosing her canned and frozen foods with care—picking up here, putting back there—she keeps track of the point values. The monthly quota of 48 points allows only about five medium-sized cans of fruits or vegetables for each member of her family. She naturally turns to more fresh fruits and vegetables, which are unrationed.

A family of three must get along on one 3½-pound roast (20 points); 1 pound of butter (8 points); ¼ pound of cheese (2 points); 1 pound liver (5 points); 1 pound of hamburger—and that doesn't mean chopped steak—(5 points); and 1 pound porterhouse steak (8 points).

Machine operators working on black shoes in a factory suffer less from headaches and blind spots when the machines are painted white.

Encourage Enterprise, Says John Bracken

LACHUTE, Que. (CP)—John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, said in an address here Thursday that he was bringing to the federal field the ambition to increase national unity.

"I should like to think," he told an Argenteuil County audience as he opened a tour of the province of Quebec, "if I'm called upon to accept heavier responsibilities that when I come to the end of my administration there will be a great deal more of unity in Canada than exists now."

Mr. Bracken's tour, his first official visit to Quebec since he was named head of the Progressive Conservative Party in December, will last for 10 days or two weeks.

Mr. Bracken outlined his personal philosophy. It was a simple one, he said. "I think our civilization isn't good enough unless it can assure to every man the right to have a job, the opportunity to make his own living."

"I suppose," he said, "that private enterprise gives nine out of every 10 jobs in Canada. So we must not discourage enterprise but encourage it so we can get the maximum employment, to the extent that if enterprise fails to give employment the state must step in to do so."

Jutland Veteran Dies

EDINBURGH, Scotland (CP)—Admiral Oliver Blackhouse, 66, veteran naval officer who commanded H.M.S. Orion in the Battle of Jutland, died Thursday. He retired in 1934.

Allied Nationals Removed From France

BERNE (AP)—British and U.S. men who had remained in the former Vichy-controlled part of France after the total occupation by German troops were reported today to have been taken to Germany.

The U.S. legation here said it had no confirmation of the report, but said it had been notified that all British and American citizens in the area—men, women and children numbering some 3,600—had been arrested.

According to the report that the men had been taken to Germany, the Germans explained the measure was necessary to remove alleged trouble-making elements from France in event of military operations.

This presumably was in reference to a possible Allied invasion.

It was not known here definitely how many British and American men had remained in the zone occupied by the Germans after the Allied campaign against north Africa opened, but the legations here said they were releasing them.

2 Subamendments On Budget Rejected; Interim Supply

OTTAWA (CP)—The House of Commons today proceeded to the examination of war-swollen estimates following completion of debate on Finance Minister Isley's budget motion to go into committee of ways and means.

The debate, which started March 8, ended Thursday night with three votes. One, by 155 to 16, defeated the C.C.F. subamendment calling for nationalization of the banking system. The C.C.F. had the support of New Democracy members.

The New Democracy amendment, calling for use of government-created national money to relieve the debt situation, was rejected by 160 votes to 4, with the C.C.F. among those opposing it.

Finally, the main government motion to go into committee was approved by a vote of 142 to 14. Two Quebec Liberals, Wilfrid LaRoche, Quebec-Montmorency, and Emmanuel d'Adjou, Rimouski, voted against the government in two of the divisions.

ASK INTERIM SUPPLY
At adjournment, which came almost an hour later than usual, Prime Minister King said it was planned to ask for interim supply today.

Previously, Mr. Isley had said he planned to ask for one-sixth of the total amount of the 1943-44 estimates to cover government expenditures for the first two months of the coming fiscal year.

Mr. King said it was also proposed to consider supplementary estimates for the year 1942-43, amounting to $2,694,361, tabled in the House by Mr. Isley Thursday night.

The concluding day of the budget debate saw 10 speakers, including G. G. McGeer, Lib., Vancouver-Burrard; Rev. A. M. Nicholson, C.C.F., Mackenzie, Sask.; Anthony Hlynka, N.D., Vegreville, Alta.; Angus MacInnis, C.C.F., Vancouver East; Mr. Homuth.

Rev. E. G. Hansell, N.D., MacLeod, Alta., and New Democracy Leader Blackmore.

Mr. Hansell said Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of the United Kingdom, Vice-President Wallace of the United States, Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, and Dr. W. C. Clark, Deputy Finance Minister, should be called before a parliamentary committee to discuss plans for the postwar world and to review the failure to meet conditions which developed in the last depression.

"CONFUSED" BANKING

Mr. Blackmore said that if the C.C.F. had added "five or six things" to its amendment urging nationalization of the banking system it would have been good, but in its existing form it had resulted in confusing the issue.

"If it is possible to create money without the use of a bank, then why bother about nationalizing the banks?" Mr. Blackmore asked.

If the New Democracy group voted against the C.C.F. amendment, the C.C.F. "propaganda machine" would spread all over the Dominion that there had been a vote against old age pensions. His group favored enlarged old age pensions and higher allowances for war veterans.

HOMUTH PROTESTS

Carl K. Homuth, Prog. Cons., South Waterloo, Ont., voiced a protest against the "boorishness and short temper" of government members.

He referred to the Munitions Minister's statement that Lieut. Col. George A. Drew, while a trained soldier, had not offered his services in any capacity of that kind "so far as I know."

He suggested that Mr. Howe's idea might be extended so that the measure of a man's right to criticize the government would be his service in the First Great War, and that only those who served then could share in direction of Canada's war effort in the present conflict.

"Were that principle to be applied there are many honorable members sitting in the cabinet and on the government side today who would not be there," said Mr. Homuth.

'America Must Lead' Says Wendell Willkie

NEW YORK (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie said here Thursday night he is dedicating his life "to arousing the American people so the Senate cannot prevent the United States from taking its place in world leadership."

The 1940 Republican presidential nominee, addressing a Greek Independence Day dinner of the American Friends of Greece, said that "failure of the United States Senate to set up a peace recovery program 23 years ago is the cause of today's chaos."

"Every place you go in all the world," Willkie stated, "millions are looking to America. They hope and pray that America will lead them to freedom. What is going to be the American people's answer? I have no sympathy for persons who say domestic issues come first and that we must have no foreign entanglements."

"America must see the light this time, and lead the world to it."

Malta Bags Plane

VALETTA (AP)—This British Mediterranean stronghold, which has had only 32 alerts this year compared with 716 during the same period in 1942, heard the wail of air-raid sirens today for the first time in 22 days. R.A.F. fighters rose to meet enemy planes which twice approached, and one raider was reported shot down.

Letters to Editor

Correspondents are reminded to use one side of the paper only, to write legibly, and to keep their communications within a reasonable length. A short letter, with a point convincingly emphasized, has a better chance of publication than one with labored abstractions.

PRAYER BEFORE WHISKY

In reply to R. Jackson's selfish letter, I suggest he dispense with whisky, make a donation to the Red Cross, and pray for the repose of the souls of the fine young soldiers and sailors who have gone to eternity for us.

MATILDA OLIVIA PAIVA, 1139 Johnson Street, March 24.

COMPARATIVE FIGURES

The production of beer in Canada in 1939 was under 63,000,000 gallons. The production in 1941 was just over 90,000,000 gallons, and the estimate for 1942 is well over 100,000,000 gallons. The Order-in-Council limiting 1943 production to 90 per cent of the amount produced during the 12-month period from Nov. 1, 1941, to Nov. 1, 1942 will certainly permit the production of at least 90,000,000 gallons, approximately the same amount as was produced in 1941, and 50 per cent more than in the last pre-war year of 1939. This is the extent of the sacrifice the country is asking of beer drinkers.

The great shift in population took place before this basic period, so that few localities will receive any great discrimination.

H. W. KERLEY,
2023 Belmont Ave., March 22.

OBJECTS TO RESTRICTIONS

The National Union of Railwaymen strongly protests the newly imposed liquor restrictions on the grounds that these restrictions are not promoting true temperance but are, in fact, bringing upon us again all the evils of prohibition days.

The experiment in prohibition 20-odd years ago proved that men and women cannot be legislated into temperance. They can be educated and encouraged, but not compelled, to practice moderation. The fact that when a man wants a drink he will get it—legally, or illegally—is being demonstrated very noticeably again in various Canadian communities where, already, the home-brewer and illicit distiller are openly flouting the law, and the toll of bootlegging, moonshining, hi-jacking, bribery and assault is on the increase.

The recent measures adopted by the government aggravate rather than solve the problem of liquor consumption in Canada. If the national level of sobriety and temperance is to be raised, it will be accomplished by a process of precept, education and example, and not by prohibition.

Canada's worker, like his compatriot in Britain, endures better the strain of longer hours and speeded-up production when he can get a nutritional and stimulating beverage to round out rationed tea and coffee. But the beverage should be made under government supervision in a sanitary plant, not brewed of questionable, perhaps harmful, ingredients in some dirty cellar by a conscienceless law-breaker.

Support for prohibition comes mainly from that unholy trinity—bootlegger, gangster and prohibitionist. Striking at the very principle on which democracy is founded, prohibition laws appeal only to those who might be labeled "professional prohibitionists," and those others who may be deceived into accepting this campaign to legislate men into teetotalism as a war conservation measure.

Public opinion should make its voice heard at Ottawa, in louder and more forceful tones than the "temperance" pressure groups, against the move under way to inveigle this country into another ghastly experiment in prohibition.

O. EGERTON,
General Secretary-Treasurer,
National Union of Railwaymen, Winnipeg, Man., March 20.

NOT THE FIRST

To the Editor: Would you kindly correct an error in your account of the recent Pontifical Mass for Cardinal Hinsley? The Bishop of Victoria did not say the late cardinal was the first person of British birth to wear the Red Hat but that he was the first native of Yorkshire to have the honor in question. Other English cardinals were Breakspear (Adrian IV), Langton, Wolsey, Fisher, Pole, Manning, Newman, Vaughan and Bourne. Wiseman was born at Seville of Anglo-Irish parentage.

What do you eat for LUNCH?

Do you eat the tired businessman's lunch—an aspirin and a bromo-seltzer!—the stenog's midday meal—coffee and a bun? That's what the Nutrition Services at Ottawa want to know. For everyone is a war worker today. The welder and riveter need their balanced meals to keep them working at top efficiency... but it's just as important that the clerks, telephone operators, stenographers and hundreds of other vital members of the "people's army" should eat well-balanced meals. It's up to everyone to eat the right kind of food. Canada's Food Rules apply to you, too—who eat in restaurants. Where lunch is eaten out, choose it with a view to rounding out the meals eaten at home. If you eat all your meals in restaurants, check the day's total with the Food Rules.

In any case eat the DAILY ESSENTIALS first:

MILK—Half pint... and some CHEESE, as available.

FRUITS—One serving of tomatoes daily, or of a citrus fruit, or of tomato or citrus fruit juices, AND one serving of other fruits, fresh, canned or dried.

VEGETABLES—(In addition to potatoes, of which you need one serving daily) two servings daily of vegetables, preferably leafy green, or yellow, and frequently raw.

CEREALS AND BREAD—One serving of a whole grain cereal AND 4 to 6 slices of Canada Approved Bread, brown or white.

MEAT, FISH, Etc.—One serving daily of meat, fish or meat substitutes. Liver, heart or kidney once a week.

EGGS—At least 3 or 4 eggs weekly.

Eat these foods first, then add these and other foods you wish. By following this simple rule, you know you are having the balanced diet your government considers so vital to health... For your work is the backbone of Victory—and poor health, due to the improper kind of food, can undermine the war effort through you. KNOW the right foods—EAT the right foods.

For advice on menu planning and the preparation of foods, just phone G7131 and ask for the Home Service Department... our Home Service Director, Mrs. Foulds, is always ready to help you.

Nazi Sports Leader Dies in Berlin

NEW YORK (AP)—Reich sports leader Hans von Tschammer-Osten, in charge of athletics and sports in Germany since 1933, and who played a prominent part in organizing the 1936 Olympic Games in Berlin, died in Berlin Thursday, according to a Berlin broadcast recorded in

New York by the Associated Press. He was president of the German Olympic committee for the 1936 games.

The first Lewis machine-gun mounted on World War I planes was fed by circular drums containing only 47 rounds of ammunition. At that time it was necessary to land to change the magazine.

Trans-Canada and Victoria

SPECIFICALLY NOTED IN THE AN- nual report of Trans-Canada Airlines—an illuminating document tabled in the House of Commons the other day by Hon. C. D.
Howe—is the promise to extend the T.C.A. transcontinental aerial service from Vancouver to Vancouver Island. This is foreshadowed, in conjunction with the Post Office authorities, as soon as the Board of Transport Commissioners issues the necessary permits. Airport facilities on this part of the island, of course, already are in existence and the plans now contemplated will give to this capital city of the province and other island communities direct air-mail, passenger and express service to the central and eastern provinces of the Dominion.

In the latter part of the first decade following the first Great War Victoria enjoyed for a time the advantages of luxurious aerial travel on an ambitious scale. This era came to a tragic end one Saturday morning as the commodious three-motored plane crashed off Port Townsend, and not until comparatively recent days was a mail and passenger schedule resumed between this city and Vancouver with a much smaller type of craft whose extremely useful comings and goings, quite properly, still are regulated by climate conditions. It may be argued, of course, that the original international triangular run with what at that time was the last word in tri-engined machines was regarded more as a novelty than an admission that this means of communication had come to stay. But the fact that the present necessarily limited enterprise has proved its value over and over again should be considered ample justification for the early expansion such as that which President H. J.
Symington envisions in his latest report on the operations of Trans-Canada.

Apart from the urgent desirability of placing the capital city of British Columbia more prominently on the national and international aerial map as a matter of sound business, however, Canada and the whole world has become thoroughly air-minded since the days of the tragedy off Port Townend. And just as the first Great War witnessed the performance of miracles in the realm of aeronautics, opening new vistas for man's conquest over the elements, the expansion of the airways over all the continent between the two conflicts had reduced such travel to the commonplace. Its future now, therefore, is becoming the subject of international discussion from the standpoint of world competition and suggested allocation of spheres of operation.

On that basis alone, then, but especially in view of the fact that vast new empires are unfolding in the northwestern sections of this continent and in the Siberian areas of the Soviet Union, it is inconceivable that the capital city of Canada's westernmost province should be compelled to rely a day longer than is physically necessary on an inferior status in respect of aerial transportation. Happily for Victoria, the problem of adequate air-drome accommodation, with complementary plant, no longer exists.
Only the necessary permit from the Board of Transport Commissioners is required to give effect to Trans-Canada's plans.

'We Shall Win'

NOT SO VERY LONG AGO MUSSOLINI'S propagandists were distributing parts of the British Commonwealth; they were telling the world that nothing the Americans could do would save the British from complete destruction. The recent accounts of the comings and goings of German and Italian spokesmen, fearing that a separate peace move might gain momentum, gave the propagandists another chance to repeat the old cliché—but with a very hollow sound. Much has happened to Italy since June 10, 1940, when Il Duce saw a cheap victory within his grasp.

Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia,
it will be recalled, used to carry the slogan,
"Vinceremo," which means "We will win."
But Italian-speaking friends of the United Nations are now telling us that if Il Duce had been expressing more confidence—telling in slogan form what inevitably was going to happen—he would have written "Vincimo," which means "We shall win." The dictator must have had misgivings. For instead of stating a simple "fact," perhaps unconsciously he said in effect: "We are going to try to win." Now, suddenly, Il Popolo has switched to the new slogan "Non Vinceremo," which means "They shall not win." Again the form expresses determination, rather than a dispassionate statement of what Il Duce would like to believe.

This is no mere play upon words. It is a clear indication of the low state of Italian morale, when the dictator's own newspaper concedes that the possibility of Axis victory has disappeared. The most that Mussolini even claims, now, is that the Axis will seek a stalemate, as the war's outcome. Since Italy's fate is to be that of Germany, the change indicates clearly what even Hitler's satellite in Italy thinks about Hitler's chances of victory. What Italy has discovered can not be hidden forever from Germany. We have known the answer for some time. We do not need to be told. But it is cheering to learn that the enemy is beginning to realize his eventual fate.

Neither Germans nor Italians are, like the Japs, the type to continue fighting after they know finally that they have been whipped. Such realization as is shown by Il Popolo's new slogan marks a definite turn for the better. After Dunkirk in Britain, and after Pearl Harbor in the United States,
the slogan had to be "They shall not win."
Gradually, as the situation improved, it became the simple "They will not win." We now are in the "We-will-win" stage, expressing firm determination. We are about to pass into the stage in which we can say what Mussolini never dared say: "Vincimo—we shall win." This is a calm, simple statement of unchangeable fact.

Outlook For Mining

FORTUNATELY FOR THE UNITED NA- tions, the Dominion of Canada is endowed with large natural resources which are playing a very important role in the prosecution of the war at the present time.
Since 1939, the output of base metals has shown a substantial expansion. The value of production of lead, zinc, copper and nickel rose from $136,000,000 in 1939 to $167,000,000 in 1942. The present year is expected to witness a further increase in the output of these commodities and production in 1943 may exceed $200,000,000. This increase will be due partly to newly developed mines and partly to the fact that older properties have been extended and their capacities increased.

Outputs of aluminum and magnesium,
the two light metals which play an important role in the production of airplanes, have shown particularly large increases. It is estimated that the output of aluminum during 1943 will amount to a billion pounds, due to the fact that new units will come into production this year. In 1939, Canada produced only 150,000,000 pounds of aluminum. It is expected that the production of magnesium during 1943 will amount to 6,000,000 pounds.
A substantial increase is also expected to take place in the output of nickel. It is estimated that the total in 1943 will be between 50,000,000 and 55,000,000 pounds larger than it was in 1941. The same applies to copper, and there are reasons to believe that the output of this critical war material during 1943 will be between 85,000,000 and 90,000,000 pounds greater than was the case last year.
In 1939, the output of copper in Canada amounted to 609,000,000 pounds.

Considerable progress has also been made in the production of tungsten and molybdenum. It is anticipated that the output of tungsten will reach a point where it will meet all the requirements of the Dominion.
Another highly critical material is zinc. Production during 1943 is expected to amount to 100,000,000 pounds. This will be achieved under the spur of a bonus for extra production paid by the United States Metals Reserve Company. The foregoing figures, however, clearly indicate the important role which Canada is playing in the production of vital war materials, while the increased output in 1943 will ease to some extent the shortages which have existed in these items.

For 'The Pompous Man'

WHAT ONE CRITIC CALLS SOME OF the best descriptive writing of World War II is to be found in Lieut.-Col. Robert Henriques' "The Voice of the Trumpet."
Its author is a product of Rugby and Oxford, served in the Royal Artillery from 1926 to 1933, and had attained the rank of brigade major in September, 1939. He resigned to become a Commando captain, taking part in raids on Vaagsoy and helping to plan the successful assault on the Nazi submarine base at St. Nazaire. Last summer he was loaned to General Dwight Eisenhower, worked on plans for the invasion of north Africa, and went ashore with United States assault troops on the beaches north of Casablanca. Much of his latest novel was written aboard ship between raids; he is also the author of "Death By Moonlight" and "No Arms, No Armor."

"The Voice of the Trumpet" goes far beyond the surface mechanics of British army life; not all of his soldiers reach their ships again. But before they are shot down
"they have made it plain to the reader that their terrible climb up the mountainside should mean more to the coming generation than a minor military operation." So writes Henriques: "We are not to build on the past that is dead. . . . The world must go forward from the dream of avarice to the dream of God which is scarcely remembered.
There has been more love on this mountain born of our suffering than has ever found in the plain of our leisure. . . .
Our sons must lift their eyes to the hills we have traveled for their understanding." It must be the end of "the pompous man, the man of success, and the greed for money and power." In that is the trumpet call to those who mean the peace to be a just and permanent peace.

The housewife who may have complained in the past of a hum-drum existence, complains no more. There is never a dull moment now on the culinary front. Rationing and food shortages have made her foragings lively affairs and victuals no longer represent just another household chore.

Mr. Hepburn has been extolling the merits of Mr. Bracken at Waterloo. Toronto Star suggests that Mr. Bracken, no doubt, remembers another Waterloo—Mr. Meighen's in South York's when Mr. Hepburn extolled the merits of Mr. Meighen.

INTERESTING WORLD

A GOOD MANY things have been happening in the world lately. Indeed, you might conservatively say that the world situation has become quite interesting.

I am thinking for the moment of Messrs.
Churchill and Roosevelt. These gentlemen have been doing their home work. The results thereof will be felt for the rest of your lifetime and into the lifetime of your children.

Mr. Roosevelt's recent movements follow the lines indicated in this space from time to time in dispatches from Washington and are quite obvious. Also they are quite characteristic. Mr. Roosevelt is working quietly from below.

His plan to call a series of United Nations conferences on various specific postwar problems is a long-term plan. It is designed to teach the United Nations how to work together. After the last war the victors had never learned how to work together in anything but fighting and, with the fighting over, they proceeded to break up their partnership and to go to hell along individual roads, all meeting ultimately in 1939. The League of Nations did not stop them because it was not based on any human experience or tradition. It was forced down from above, a beautiful dream world. Mr. Roosevelt is not duplicating the mistake of his great master, Mr. Wilson. He is trying to get the democracies together in a kind of economic League now so that a political League will grow out of it later.

REAL OBJECTIVE

THE LEAGUE emerges in the last few days as the ultimate objective of both Britain and the United States. Mr. Churchill has specifically advocated it—a slightly different kind of League, it is true, but basically the same League which failed before. Mr. Hull and Mr. Welles have endorsed the League idea in official speeches. The basic policy of the British and United States Governments is thus the same.

The difference between the present situation and that of the last postwar period is in the method of approach. Then it was a purely political approach. Now it is obviously to be an economic approach to begin with anyway—an attempt, through Mr.
Roosevelt's conferences, to get the economic wheels of the world turning as soon as the war is over—to feed the hungry nations, to restore trade, to organize foreign loans.

Out of this the political instrument of the League will grow. But it is obvious that without this political instrument none of the economic remedies will work. For it is only with a guarantee of peace that the nations will start trading again, will remove tariff barriers and will emerge from autarky. If there is no guarantee of peace, each nation, or group of nations, will try to live itself off, build up its own business and prepare for the next war, which will thus be assured.
Politics in the form of the League and economics in the form of international co-operation are thus equally essential and form part of the same pattern.

OTHER THINGS

OTHER THINGS are happening in this interesting world. Mr. Churchill has become a New Dealer. His speech on the future of Britain's economy could easily have been made by Mr. Roosevelt. It is nothing more nor less than the philosophy of the Roosevelt government. And just before Mr.
Churchill spoke, it should be noted, Mr.
Roosevelt had proclaimed his plan to increase, deepen and stabilize the New Deal after the war.

Thus we have the two chief democratic statesmen of the world jointly announcing that our economic system is to be drastically changed—an inevitable fact in the scheme of the universe to which, like Carlyle's lady friend, we had better reconcile ourselves.
But it is to be noted also that the new kind of society which Churchill and Roosevelt propose is not of the beautiful logic of the Capitalist or the Socialist. It is neither Socialism nor Capitalism but a blend of both.

The possibilities of such a system are too large to be discussed here and will not be fully known for 50 years or so, by which time I do not think you or I will be much interested in them. But in our lifetime they will be plenty to occupy our minds, our passions and our prejudices. At the moment it is only possible to observe that the idea of moulding pure Capitalism and pure Socialism into a new kind of compromise or synthesis is the actual policy of the two most important democratic governments, is practical politics and not theory. Whereas no party in any of the democracies which is likely to take office in the visible future now stands for doctrinaire Socialism, which therefore is not at present practical politics.

'CANADA, UNDER YOUR LEADERSHIP'

From Toronto Star.
Once again Prime Minister Churchill has paid tribute to the war achievements of Canada under Prime Minister King's leadership. In a message to Mr. King, the British Prime Minister says:

"In the darkest days, Canada, under your leadership, remained confident and true. Now the days are brighter, and when victory is won you will be able to look back with just pride upon a record surpassed by none."

Just over a year ago, Mr. Churchill sent
Mr. King a message in which he said:

"I recall your memorable words at the Mansion House when you said: 'We in Canada are proud to share your burdens.
We are determined to share them to the utmost of our strength.' Canada, under your leadership, has given many proofs of that determination in every field of our common endeavor, and I have recently been fortunate enough to see for myself the spirit that inspires you all."

Canada's record in this war will be assessed by history as it is assessed by Mr.
Churchill—one of which the Dominion and its leaders have every reason to be proud.

Block-Busters On Berlin

David Walker in Christian Science Monitor

LISBON, Portugal—Several persons who were in Berlin when the Americans and the British staged their recent mass air raid on the German capital, have just arrived in Lisbon.

"These witnesses necessarily saw only what was happening in their own neighborhoods and consequently are unable to convey anything approximating an overall view of the resulting damage. But they saw enough to make it plain that the accounts of the havoc brought back by returning airmen were not exaggerated."

The Nazi capital was dealt a severe blow—both materially and psychologically.

"It was like being in an earthquake with the ground shaking and whole areas collapsing," the witnesses declared.

It appears that there was a high wind on the night of the raid which fanned the flame and the conflagration ran the length of entire streets. The Wilmerdorf area, which was damaged in a previous raid was so battered this time that the district now scarcely exists, while the Pragerplatz was described as "one large sea of flame."

Berlin's fire services naturally were unable to cope with all the fires simultaneously, and next day many thousands of Berliners gave up their work in order to form human chains passing buckets hand to hand, and a number of fires were still burning two days later.

Psychologically one of the worst elements in the raid, the witnesses agreed, was the indescribable sound of explosions of the heaviest type of bomb which affects the eardrums of anyone in the neighborhood.

"When I left my Berlin suburb for the central railway station," one of the eye-witnesses concluded, "I did not see a single unbroken window in the whole city, while many streets were still impassable to traffic due to the huge mountains of rubble and masonry."

WAR—25 YEARS AGO TODAY
March 26, 1918—Gen. Ferdinand Foch took over supreme command of Allied armies on the Western Front. German troops checked west of Roye and Noyon, but made gains south of Peronne.

Study Women Patrol Plan To Cope With Delinquency

Pains to employ women police officers to patrol Victoria streets at night to cope with juvenile delinquency were discussed Thursday afternoon by city police commissioners, who will ask the city prosecutor, welfare officer and juvenile officer to attend the next commission meeting to further discuss the move.

"It's just terrible on the streets," said Mayor Andrew McGavin, chairman of the police commission. "I've been accosted on the streets. The place is just polluted with them—young girls of 16 and 17."

"You can see them any time you come down here," Ald. D. D. McTavish said, while Ald. W. H. Davies said welfare groups were unanimous the only way to cope with the situation was to have women patrol officers on the streets at night.

Ald. Davies said he had been informed young girls, apparently impressed with uniforms, had been seen to run up to, and hook their arms with servicemen, and go off together.

"You can imagine what happens," he said.

"That's a situation I don't think male officers can cope with, but female officers can handle it efficiently and effectively," he said.

"I think it's the parents that should be trained," Police Chief J. A. McLellan said.

Ald. Davies said that with both fathers and mothers working, it was impossible for parents to keep close check on children.

"It's up to you to figure out what should be done," the mayor said.

"It's beyond experimentation in other cities," Ald. Davies said.

"Are the women police officers effective?" asked the police chief.

"Yes," replied Ald. Davies.

"They are specifically trained for that purpose."

"Then you will have to provide for more expense," said Chief McLellan. "You'll have to have special space and equipment. Now we can get by."

Ald. Davies said the situation was more serious than drunkenness and burglary.

"It's a wonder the churches haven't done something," the mayor said.

"It is," said Ald. Davies.

NO BICYCLE LICENSES

The commission decided to drop plans to license bicycles to cope with the increased number of thefts, Ald. McLellan reporting that although Oak Bay favored the plan, Saanich had turned it down.

"If they're not alive to the welfare of their own citizens, I don't see why we should bother about it," Ald. Davies said.

The police commission again finds itself at a wall in regard to statistics of venereal disease among servicemen.

NO V.D. STATISTICS

Army headquarters at Ottawa reported statistics could not be given for military reasons, while naval headquarters said they had no figures available and suggested that statistics of the number of men treated in Victoria would not give a true picture, because the disease might not have been contracted in Victoria.

Since naval headquarters suggested statistics would be available from naval medical officers at Esquimalt, the commission will again approach this source, which previously said no statistics were available.

The statistics are wanted for a report on bawdy houses asked some months ago by the city council.

Promotions of Constable William Andrews from 3rd to 2nd class and of Probationary Constables Alex M. Robertson and Henry J. Smith to 3rd class were approved.

The commission approved the purchase of a new car and set at $600 the price of a used car which it was suggested should be turned over to another city department.

The police chief was instructed that in future reports of accidents in which police cars are involved be forwarded to the police commission as well as to the city solicitor and city comptroller.

Corrosion is prevented in navy seaplanes by using potassium dichromate in fuel tanks, hulls and floats. Occasionally, tea bags served as containers for the chemical.

Malahat Trade Board

Bishop H. E. Sexton will address a meeting in the S.L.A.A. Hall on Friday evening, March 26, on Rehabilitation. The meeting will be held under the auspices of the Malahat Board of Trade. A letter has also been received from E. V. Finland, M.L.A., promising to visit the board for the purpose of discussing matters pertaining to the district.

Correspondence from the headquarters of the new Victory Loan was read, asking co-operation in fixing quotas for the various districts under the board's jurisdiction. The next meeting will be held on April 15. It will be the annual meeting with the election of officers.

SHAWNIGAN LAKE

Twelve tables of cribbage, bridge and 500 were enjoyed at a shamrock card party held in the S.L.A.A. Hall Friday evening under the auspices of the Shawnigan Lake Women's Institute. St. Patrick motives were used on the score cards and in the dining room, where refreshments were served by the members.

St. Ann's Pageant Shows Pioneer Scenes, Figures

Pioneer figures from old Fort Victoria days came to life in the beautiful historical pageant presented at St. Ann's Academy Thursday evening in commemoration of the city's centenary and its first religious service.

The auditorium was filled to standing capacity and the young performers and artists, all students of the academy, assisted by pupils of St. Louis College, received well-merited and sustained applause for their outstanding presentation.

Entitled "Within Sound of the Angelus Bells," the pageant depicted incidents in the ecclesiastical and secular history of Victoria since 1838. Lovely old costumes which had been worn by belles of pioneer days, authentic Indian costumes and "beaver" hats made their appearance in realistic settings which showed replicas of the old bastion and stockade, the Beaver, and other reminders of days long ago.

The High School choir sang the opening chorus "Song of Empire" and the final "Christus Vincit, Christus Regnat," together with appropriate numbers at intervals. Other incidental musical items included numbers by the Misses G. Adams, G. Haines, M. Collis, M. Rogers, Pearl Scott and A. Myers. The rest of the program follows:

PAGEANT EPISODES

Prelude, dedication, "The West is Fair," Miss M. Lineham, President. Religion, Miss Theresa Leahy; science, Miss J. Robertson; "Within Sound of the Angelus," Miss W. Gagnon.

Legendary days: "Song of Spring to the Earth Witch," D. O'Connell; "Chief's Prayer After the Salmon Catch," W. Morgan. The Message: "The Coming of the Missionaries, 1838," Miss J. Eddy; "To Fields Afar," Miss R. Clarkson; "The Cross of Christ,"

Clubwomen

Social meeting of Primrose Lodge No. 32, Daughters of England, will be held Friday evening at 7.30. After meeting cards will be played.

Hard-of-Hearing Club met in the clubrooms, 1416 Douglas Street, Wednesday evening. The convenor of the Red Cross unit of the club, Mrs. Routledge, read the annual report for the year, showing that many articles were made. The work was divided into three divisions: 184 articles for the services, including pullovers, sweaters and helmets; hospital supplies 310, ranging from sheets to nurses' caps; refugees were given 61 articles, including knitted baby outfits, sweaters, jackets and sleepers. In addition friends donated 80 articles, from knitted jackets to quilts and blankets. A hearty vote of thanks and congratulations was voted the unit on its splendid showing.

Showers

Miss Marjorie Pready, 528 Lampson Street, was hostess Monday evening at a linen shower honoring Miss Moyra Macfarlane, whose marriage to Rifleman Herbert Fisher, V.R.C., will take place shortly. The bride-elect was presented with a corsage bouquet of pink carnations and white heather, and was the recipient of many gifts. Spring flowers centred the supper table and refreshments were served by candlelight. Guests were: Mesdames Ruby Mickelson, Joyce Robson, Ruth Welham and Misses Myrtle Cook, Dorothy Jones, Isobel Kearney, Hazel Miller, Mary Macfarlane, Ruth Morgan, Flora McMillan, Yvonne and Gwendolyn Pready.

In honor of Miss Viola Stewart, whose marriage will take place on Saturday, a shower was given at the home of Mrs. Bruce Revo, 548 Bastion Street. The bride-to-be was presented with a corsage of white carnations, and her mother, Mrs. C. Street, with a corsage of red carnations. Mrs. Revo was assisted by Mrs. Ruby Rusterholz and Miss Winifred Le Troy in serving the dainty refreshments, which were served from a table centred with a bowl of yellow daffodils and red tulips. The gifts were concealed in a victory box trimmed with pink and green crepe paper. The invited guests were Mesdames J. J. Rawmsley, Bert Sutton, Doug Hunt, Iva Smith, Isabelle MacFadyen, Marion Macleod, Doris Jewsbury, and Misses Rita Hume, Margaret Grist, Joyce Carmichael and Alice Smith.

Miss Mickey Stewart, whose marriage to Mr. Charles Gemyroy will take place shortly, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. D. A. Milloy, 619 Queen's Avenue. Miss Stewart received a corsage bouquet of carnations, and the gifts were hidden in a miniature chest trimmed with pink and white. Among the presents was a table lamp from her fellow employees at McLennan, McFeely and Prior. Games were played, winners being Mrs. R. Edge, and Misses K. Foxgord, and Marlene Pearce. The supper table was lighted by pink tapers, and centred with a bowl of carnations. Other guests were Mesdames E. White, F. Cousins, N. Milloy, and Misses L. Simpson, F. Ball, D. Ford, M. Westmacott, C. Roebuck, E. Hubbard, A. Neilson, M. Hurley, M. Pearce, H. de Puyfifer, V. Banks and A. de Macedo.

Pte. Peggy McBeath, C.W.A.C., whose marriage will take place in April to L.S.A. Robert Brophy, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given Thursday evening by the Esquimalt Community Club at the home of Mrs. M. Nicol, Effingham Street. The bride-to-be and her mother, Mrs. A. McBeath, received corsage bouquets of daffodils, and the gifts were concealed in a box trimmed in red, white and blue. Mrs. R. McVie and Mrs. McBeath presided at a supper table arranged with daffodils and plum blossom. Assisting in serving were Mesdames M. McDuff, M. Patterson, R. Garrat, L. Kerridge, and other guests included Mrs. and Mrs. R. McVie, Mr. and Mrs. S. Vincent, Mesdames A. McDuff, M. Parks, J. Rimmer, W. Aldridge, J. Cockrell, E. McLean, G. Corless, A. Draper, W. Petrie, L. ## W. S. Harris, Vernon Newspaperman, Dies

VERNON, B.C. (CP) — W. S. Harris, 64, publisher of the Vernon News, died Thursday from a heart condition from which he had suffered for some years and which was aggravated by an attack of influenza.

Born in Durham, Ont., Mr. Harris had a wide experience in the newspaper world, first as a printer and later as reporter, editor and publisher.

He learned his trade with the Durham Review and afterwards worked on various papers, including the Toronto News, of which his uncle, Sir John Willson, was editor. After gaining experience on New York dailies, he went to Edmonton, as manager of the Edmonton Bulletin just after the turn of the century. Later he acquired a third interest in the Edmonton Journal.

His wife, formerly Joanna Rogan of Fort William, survives him. Other surviving relatives are three sisters, Mrs. C. C. Bacchus of Vancouver, Mrs. James Cunningham of Toronto, and Miss Margaret T. Harris of Toronto, and two sons, Sgt. Allyn Harris of the R.C.A.F. overseas, and Gunner Frank Harris of the Royal Canadian Artillery.

Lull in Pacific Sees U.S. Prepare For New Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The current lull in Pacific fighting, broken only by air attacks against Japanese outposts in the Solomon and Aleutian Islands, is regarded in informed quarters today as indicating American commanders have been strengthening and disposing their forces for new blows against the enemy.

The objectives of these offensives, qualified informants predict, will be both to win new strategic positions for United States forces and further to reduce Japan's waning seapower before the enemy has an opportunity to recover from past losses.

Every day that passes without significant action, it is emphasized, gives the enemy more time to repair damaged ships, speed new ones to completion, strengthen the bases that guard his far-flung empire and develop the rich conquests of the south Pacific.

EYE ON SHIPPING

Since shipping is known to be one of Japan's most vulnerable points, an initial move might be designed to compel the enemy to fight under terms favorable to American success. In seeking to maintain their hold on Guadalcanal, the Japanese spent ships and planes desperately even after it became apparent they must eventually lose the island.

Another island conquest which would cause them similarly serious losses would be a highly profitable enterprise for the United States even though the territory actually won might not be of major strategic importance.

To launch such an enterprise it is believed here the navy might strike more deeply into the Solomons archipelago by invading either the Munda area immediately beyond Guadalcanal or attacking Bougainville, the big island at the northwestern end of the chain.

Strategy aimed primarily at the conquest of an important position might—depending on the forces available—call for an attack on Truk, the enemy's main naval base in the south Pacific, or on the Marshall Islands east of Truk and the Carolines, where the Japanese have built up an interlocking chain of strong outposts remotely flanking the communications lines between Hawaii and the south Pacific.

The present lull dates back almost two months, following the final scattered naval action which accompanied the collapse of Japanese resistance on Guadalcanal. The only naval activity reported after the final Guadalcanal fighting around Feb. 1 developed March 5 when a U.S. cruiser-destructor force shelled the enemy base at Munda and sank two destroyers of a group which attempted to interfere.

Police Account for All But 10 Pairs Of Murder Gloves

Two more pairs of gloves, similar to those which police believe were worn by the killer of Molly Justice, 15-year-old seamstress, murdered Jan. 18 in Saanich, were in the hands of police today, leaving but 10 pairs to be accounted for now.

The gloves, which were found near C.N.R. right-of-way where Miss Justice and her assailant met in a death struggle, are a vital clue in the mysterious killing. Saanich police, assisted by detectives of the city, R.C.M.P. and B.C. police, have worked weeks to account for the gloves similar to those worn by the murderer.

Only 96 pairs of gloves of this type were retailed in Victoria a few months before the murder. Police hope, with the aid of the public, who are asked to notify them if they have or know of someone who has a pair of these gloves, to locate the murderer by writing off 95 pairs of gloves.

Persons knowing of the gloves should get in touch with the Saanich police, Royal Oak.

The last two pairs accounted for were turned in by a resident of Victoria and a Keating citizen.

Peer's Daughter To Wed American

LONDON (CP)—The engagement of Lady Sarah Spencer-Churchill, eldest daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, to Lieut. Edwin F. Russell, R.N.V.R., was announced today.

Lieut. Russell is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius T. Russell of Beverly Hills, Cal.

Lady Sarah is distantly related to Prime Minister Churchill. She is a daughter of the 10th Duke of Marlborough; the Prime Minister's grandfather was the seventh duke.

Lady Sarah, who formerly worked on the 8 a.m. shift at a war factory, now is engaged in another war job.

"The date of the wedding depends on service considerations," the Duchess of Marlborough said.

Dinner Orders Puzzle Amateur Waitress

Messwomen often serve 30 officers at a meal. Lack of choice on the menu makes their task easier.

By KAY MCINTYRE

"There's a shortage of messwomen at the officers' mess," said Cpl. Alice Coad, waking me out of a sound sleep at 6.30. "You're going up there to wait on table at the noon meal."

She didn't have to shake me any more. I came to with a start when I heard her words... they kept echoing all morning.

MORE DRIVERS NEEDED

First of all came a visit to the transport section, where FO. Philip Walker said: "If we had enough girls they would be driving every type of machine. As it is they drive station wagons, shop mules, small trucks and the three-ton gas wagon which carries anywhere from 800 to 1,300 gallons of gas."

"The only reason they don't drive ambulances," he added, "is because we haven't quarters for them at the hospital."

While an aircraftman showed me how to start a "mule" I learned most of the vehicles have governors—even those used for towing.

Literally a sports centre is the recreation hall which houses badminton, basketball and volley ball courts, specially built stage and projection room, billiard and table tennis room, lounge and library. Here the entire personnel of the station are treated to two movies a week as well as vaudeville shows. Open all day and evening for those off duty, a special room contains equipment which may be borrowed and which includes tennis and badminton rackets, sweaters, hockey pads, lacrosse sticks, game boards, boxing gloves.

GIRLS LIKE P.T.

Cpl. Nona Butts, former Pro-Rec instructor at Victoria, hopes to have a special night set aside for the airwomen at the recreation centre. She is planning to organize basketball, badminton and volley ball teams as well as gym classes for the girls.

"Physical training is becoming more and more popular in the W.D.," Cpl. Butts said. "I started out to be a hospital assistant, then switched to my own line."

Up in the officers' mess which overlooks the station, Cpl. Mary Jensen of Victoria, who is in charge of the W.D. cooks and messwomen, gave me a few pointers in waiting on table.

"The hardest part," she said, "is remembering which one ordered soup and which dessert."

I saw what she meant later on. Places filled up rapidly at the tables set for 16, and while some of the occupants were still eating their main course, newcomers were waiting to have their place reset and order taken.

"Clean, liveable quarters and buildings make all the difference to a station," he said. "I inspect the men's quarters at regular intervals and SO. Brown does the same in the women's."

His interest was typical of that of the officers in charge of the W.D. Invariably they were as concerned in the welfare of the girls under them as they were in seeing they did their jobs properly.

Civilian Fuel Supply Not Matter for Forces

While work crews from the services assisted Victoria with its civilian fuel problem during the winter, the first duty of the service is to protect the coast and use of fatigue parties generally to handle coal would interfere, according to opinion expressed by military and naval leaders here.

The suggestion fatigue parties be sought from the army and navy was advanced at a meeting of fuel dealers with the city's fuel committee Wednesday.

A spokesman for the army, noting the assistance given early this year, said no authority was available to permit soldiers to plan a regular campaign for assistance of civilians. If men were allotted for fatigue parties it would interfere with defence duties and training, it was said. Naval spokesmen took a similar position. Men enlisted in the navy for sea service. There was no excess of men for the duties required of them and work parties could not be supplied except in an emergency, it was said.

Wind speed and direction is gauged from observing balloons set aloft from atop the building which houses the meteorological section.

Before the meal we had our own lunch at tables already set, being careful to use knives, forks and glasses handed out by Cpl. Jensen. It was a substantial meal but an hour and a half later, after I'd brought a three course meal to more than two dozen men, I tottered out to the kitchen and devoured three more desserts without even pausing for breath.

RECORD WIND SPEED

Atop the building which houses the meteorological section, Cpl. Mary McLaughlin of Toronto explained the duties of a W.D. in her branch. One of them is the job she gave me, releasing balloons while she follows their course, gauging wind speed and direction.

A quick tour through the station to see how the other half lives and an even speedier ride in an R.C.A.F. crash boat rounded out the day. FO. Jack Pape of Seattle showed me control towers, the fighter pilots' hut and air-arms' canteen.

In the canteen I bumped into Wing Commander F. J. Mawdesley, C.O., come to have a look around.

"Clean, liveable quarters and buildings make all the difference to a station," he said. "I inspect the men's quarters at regular intervals and SO. Brown does the same in the women's."

His interest was typical of that of the officers in charge of the W.D. Invariably they were as concerned in the welfare of the girls under them as they were in seeing they did their jobs properly.

R.C.A.F. Enlistments

Three Victorians, one man from Port Alice and one from Chemainus, enlisted in the R.C.A.F. during the week ended March 24, it is reported by No. 1 Recruiting Centre, Vancouver. Their names follow:

J. D. Southwell, 2815 Inlet Avenue; A. D. Jackson, 2943 Tillicum Road, and M. H. Turnquist, 136 Medina Street, Victoria; R. W. Andrews, Chemainus, and D. W. Newby, Port Alice.

Lieut. John Mitchell, R.C.N.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Mitchell, Orchard Avenue, Oak Bay, has arrived to spend furlough at his home after three years' service on convoy duty in the Atlantic. He is accompanied by his wife, the former Mollie Greene of Toronto and Ancaster, Ont.

City Night School Shows High Standard

Products of courses in practical arts were displayed by Victoria's night school classes at Central Junior High School Thursday evening as sessions held under the auspices of Victoria School Board drew to a close.

Six classes only exhibited. They included A. Bagshaw's mechanical drafting group, Arthur Cheekley's painting and drawing section, W. Menclaw's commercial art class, Mrs. M. Grute's students of pottery, and woodwork divisions taught by R. F. Goldfinch and A. H. Marston.

The majority of other classes were completed with presentation of certificates to successful students during the evening. In the larger number of courses, demands of war showed their effects this year. Enrolments fell 250 from the beginning of term in October and certain studies had to be discontinued.

Portraits, figures, life and model studies were shown along with elementary poster work in the commercial art exhibition room. The work, in pencil, color and charcoal was of a high order. Of a similar standard was the art of the drawing and painting class which featured landscapes in clear line and definite color, with pastels, sepias and the occasional oil.

Excellent artistic and utilitarian articles were on view in the pottery section which featured glazed hand-made pieces. Among them were bowls, figures, bon-bon dishes, ashtrays and toast racks.

Popular as usual was the wood-working section, where well-made pieces of furniture demonstrated a high degree of craftsmanship. Among the exhibits were occasional tables in satin walnut, tea trays, a cabinet for records and a recording machine, a magazine table neatly joined, a round coffee table, a child's wagon, cedar chest finished in mahogany, writing desks and wood boxes.

Progress of students was disclosed in the mechanical drafting section where aircraft parts, drawings, tracings and blueprints showed precision both in free-hand and instrument drawing.

The value of the dressmaking instruction was clearly indicated in the array of garments displayed by that class. A spring camelcloth tailored coat with victory pockets, neat black cocktail suit, house and afternoon dresses, fall and summer coats and tailored suits were among the featured exhibits.

A meeting, presided over by Cordova Bay A.R.P. post warden, to organize classes in St. John Ambulance First Aid, was addressed by Herbert A. Stokes, first aid instructor, and head of that department in Saanich. Two classes will be held. Beginners will meet at McMorran's Coffee Shop each Wednesday evening, commencing March 31, as a general public war service class. The refreshers will meet Monday evenings, the first class to be held April 5 at the coffee shop.

City Drama Started In Tent, Lions Told

Canada is rapidly emerging from the chrysalis to raise brilliant wings in the field of drama, Maj. L. Bullock-Webster told the Lions Thursday.

Maj. Bullock-Webster, who is director of community drama for the province, traced the development of Canadian art from the days of David Garrick, and said that much inspiration was brought to Halifax by colonial regiments who gave plays among themselves and awakened civilian interest which filtered to the west.

In Victoria drama was started when "The Rivals" was given in a big tent early in 1848, he said. The first theatre stood on the site of the present Royal Bank on Government Street, and was known as the Log Theatre.

The Star and Garter Hotel also nurtured lovers of the theatre, and the speaker said he had a program of a show given in 1877, and also a fine picture of the cast at the opening night of the Royal Victoria Theatre in 1885. Herbert Kent, Maj. Bullock-Webster recalled, is the only member of the cast still living.

"With all the color and traditions of our Canadian background," the speaker said in closing, "we should not find it too difficult to bestow an inspiring heritage of drama that will shape and stimulate the lives of Canadians who will come after us."

Field representative of the Lions, Ellsworth Whalen, spoke on the activities of Lions in the United States. Mr. Whalen is passing through Victoria on his way to Fort Alberni, where he will stay for a few days before returning to Boise, Idaho.

He mentioned the enthusiasm shown in Victoria gardens and the active part taken by Lions to check juvenile delinquency which, he said, is becoming a serious problem in the States.

President Bob Peers, in the chair, reminded members of the "Spotlight Review" to be held at the Royal Victoria Theatre Saturday night, and asked for volunteers to transport the artists who are coming over from Vancouver to put on the performance. The concert, Mr. Peers said, is in aid of the British Child War Victims Fund.

'Pay as You Earn' Tax Deductions for All Begin After March 31

Herewith are set out the new tax tables prepared by the National Revenue Department to show employers what to deduct from their employees' pay beginning with the first pay period after March 31. These are the "pay as we earn" deductions under Mr. Bailey's new plan.

Employees may have deducted from their total tax (TT) through voluntary savings an amount up to but in no case more than the amount marked savings portion (SP). This savings portion is included in the total tax, so that an employee with no voluntary savings would lose the amount marked TT, not both TT and SP added together.

The deductions from the cheques of persons paid every two weeks will be double the amounts of the corresponding weekly deductions shown below. Those paid twice a month will have deducted an amount equal to half the corresponding monthly payments.

These tables are designed to collect 95 per cent of the total tax payable in 1943. They do not take into account any tax liability for 1942, for which a separate return must be made later.

Stanley Cup Hockey

Detroit-Boston Win

TORONTO (CP)—The sporting public needs no further proof that any meeting between Toronto Maple Leafs and Detroit Red Wings is likely to produce pyrotechnics at any moment.

The Stanley Cup rivals of last spring added clinching evidence of their incompatibility Thursday night in the third game of a best of seven series which will qualify the winner for the final round of the 1942-43 Stanley Cup play-offs.

Red Wings won the game 4 to 2 to take a 2 to 1 lead into the fourth game of the series here Saturday. But the chief excitement for 13,382 fans at Maple Leaf Gardens was provided by jolting Jack Stewart, Detroit defenseman.

Wings, who won the first game of the series 4 to 2 at Detroit Sunday and bowed 3 to 2 in overtime, at the Olympia Tuesday, were coasting behind a safe third-period lead when Stewart and defenseman Reggie Hamilton tangled in a corner.

While Stewart and Hamilton served major penalties for the flare-up, Leafs stepped on the scoring throttle for goals by Norman (Bud) Poile and Billy Taylor to make it 4 to 2. Shortly after Stewart returned to the ice, the Pilot Mound, Man., defenseman went down at centre ice with Toronto's Bob Davidson underneath him. Fists began to fly again and both drew major penalties.

In addition to the major, Stewart received a 10-minute misconduct for drawing two majors in one game.

Veteran Syd Howe set up the first Detroit goal at 1:40 of the opening period, passing to rookie Cully Simon. Midway through the period Carl Liscombe retrieved his own rebound from a Leaf defender and thudded a hard shot into the goal off Walter (Turk) Brode's stick. Sid Abel made it 3 to 0 before the period ended. Midway through the third period Eddie Wares netted the fourth Detroit goal.

It was Detroit's seventh victory in league and three play-off games against Toronto this season. Leafs have won five and the other was a tie.

SUMMARY

First period—1, Detroit, Simon (Howe, J. Stewart), 1:04; 2, Detroit, Liscombe, 9:21; 3, Detroit, Abel (Liscombe), 17:30. Penalties: J. Stewart, R. Hamilton, G. Stewart, Wares, Poile, Abel.

Second period—No score; no penalties.

Third period—4, Detroit, Wares (Liscombe), 9:56; 5, Toronto, Poile (G. Stewart, McLean), 14:41; 6, Toronto, Taylor, 16:12. Penalties: McDonald, J. Stewart (two majors and 10-minute misconduct), R. Hamilton (major), Davidson (major).

JACKSON'S GOAL DECIDES
MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Canadiens, beaten by Boston Bruins 3 to 2 Thursday night, have one more chance to get back in the running in their best of seven National Hockey League semifinal for the Stanley Cup.

The Bruins now hold a 3 to 0 lead in the series, with the fourth game scheduled on Montreal ice Saturday.

Harvey Jackson settled last night's encounter after three minutes and 20 seconds of overtime, banging his own rebound into the Montreal goal to bring the game to an end before many of the 12,346 customers had returned to their seats after the intermission.

It was the largest crowd in the Forum this season. Until Dit Clapper hammered in a goal to force a 2 to 2 deadlock and overtime, Canucks held a 2 to 1 lead since early in the second frame.

Elmer Lach started the scoring in the first and in the middle session Gordon Drillon came in to put Montreal two up. A few minutes after Drillon's goal, Herb Cain swept in to take a pass from Flash Hollett and Bill Cowley to put the Bruins in the running.

Clapper fixed the deadlock at 19:08 on passes from Cowley and Hollett.

Hollett drew a penalty early in

Lacrosse Clubs Will Play Games Outdoors

With no indoor playing floor available Victoria box lacrosse teams will play games during the coming season outdoors. This was the decision reached at a meeting of the league executive Thursday night.

Executive decided to approach the city parks board with a view to securing use of the Stevenson Memorial Park for games. The box now stored at the Athletic Park would be set up.

Navy, and R.C.A.F. are the only senior entries, but an effort will be made to secure a civilian club entry so as to provide more competition.

Clubs planning to compete during the 1943 season are advised that entries must be filed not later than Thursday, April 8, when the association will again meet at the British Public Schools Club.

Units will oppose the Kandy Kids, followed at 8 by another exhibition between K.V.'s and the Navy B club.

Basketball Tangle

Army May Not Play

Victoria's much-tangled basketball situation gathered in another skein today. Following the announcement Thursday night by the executive of the B.C. Basketball Association that the Army and R.C.A.F. clubs had been ordered to play a sudden-death game in Vancouver tonight to settle the island championship, Ernie Stock, president of the Victoria League, wired the provincial moguls the Army had been declared island champions and he had advised them not to participate in such a game.

Stock's wire to Harry Johnson, secretary of the B.C. body, follows:
"As president of the Victoria Basketball League, wish to advise you the Army team have been declared winners of the island senior A men's championship. I have also ordered the Army not to take part in any game unless it be for the B.C. title. This action taken with the approval of our basketball executive. We kindly notify you when we are to send the Army team to Vancouver for the B.C. playoffs."

On the strength of this wire it was not thought the Army club would leave for Vancouver this afternoon, unless some further action was taken by the provincial officials.

In ordering the Army and R.C.A.F. clubs to Vancouver the B.C.B.A. ruled that Roy McKay and Doug Bray would be eligible to play for the Army and Ralph Pay eligible for the Flyers, but Turk of the Army was ruled ineligible.

By ART STOTT

APRIL'S Reader's Digest carries a story, by William L. White on "The Swallow." The Disneythological creature, in this case is a plane, battle-scarred from the Philippines, Java and other Dutch East Indies. Most particularly the article, "Queens Die Proudly," is the story of Lt. Col. Frank Kurtz.

The 31-year-old ex-Olympic tower diver gives a heart-wracking account of those South Pacific days when so few Americans in the air tried to do so much for so many against the Japanese hordes. In itself it is a saga of heroism and tragedy—a picture painted with simple genius in the flaming colors of war. It starts with the Jap assault on Clark Field.

That was 10 years after a dark-headed youngster, trained to skinniness and sunbaked to the color of a native, dived in the Los Angeles Olympiad. Frankie Kurtz was just a kid then, shadowed in the more popular sun of "Mickey Riley" Galitzen and Harold "Dutch" Smith—a youngster with a jargon of his own, a dynamo burning energy for which he could find insufficient outlets, a boy with a desire to be a newspaper reporter but a fear his vocabulary was inadequate to meet the needs of the trade. It was an unnecessary fear. He made phrases in a classic way, words that bounced action in his own slang and, meaningless in themselves, painted pictures.

He was always in a hurry. "C'mon, let's take a powder and boom." He dived the same way. Behind him was a very definite knowledge of fundamentals, but he was a free-swinging figure hurtling from the tower without the pronounced, individual actions of the ordinary diver. He gave his performance vitality. He tried and accomplished stunts the other boys shunned.

When the others rolled through back one-and-one-half somersaults, Frankie whirled around in a back-two-and-one-half. You held your breath while you watched him. You're flying blind without instruments on a back two-and-one-half. You don't see where you're heading. It's all a matter of timing. And if your timing is out, you hit the pool with the impact you'd get from hitting a slab of concrete.

We sorta prayed for Frankie up on the tower, back to the water, hair slicked out of his eyes. Thirty-five feet is a long way up if you don't get your entry. You can crack an eardrum from that height. You can wrench back muscles in a way that will lay you up for weeks. You can flatten your nose out as if a brick had hit it and you can smash your eyes so you can't see properly for days.

So we prayed for Frankie, in a way, when he did his two-and-one-half back. When he let go and started spinning we felt the same hollowness in our stomachs we would have felt if we'd been trying it ourselves. When he hit it on the nose, as the vernacular went in those days, we felt something of the triumph.

He's been around, has Frankie. Before the Olympics runs a report of a circus background. At the time of the Los Angeles Games he was after and held junior flying records. He once flew from Victoria's Landsdowne Field to Mexico on a "speed" hop. He toured Australia diving. He hit Europe in Spain and dived up through into Paris, Prague, London, opened the famous Hasting's swimming pool, performed in Berlin. When the United States went into the war he was in the U.S. air force, a lieutenant. Now he wears a D.F.C. and Silver Star. He was in there when the going was tough.

The Digest story paints him the same Kurtz, with something grim added, some emotion squeezed out.

We sorta prayed for Frankie in those careless days when he took chances on tower diving bumps. We sorta pray for him now and for all the other boys like him up there flying.

Giants Lose Mize To Army; Yankees Settle Etten Deal

ST. LOUIS (AP)—New York Giants can start looking for a first baseman. Johnny Mize is in the United States navy. The fence-busting infielder was sworn into the service Thursday after passing his physical at Jefferson barracks. Mize probably will take his training at Great Lakes, Ill.

President Horace Stoneham at the club's Lakewood, N.J., training camp, said the country would be secured for a replacement for the 30-year-old veteran. Stoneham said he had no deals pending.

Joe Orenco, like Mize, a former St. Louis Cardinal, has been given a trial at that position. Manager Mel Ott said he will continue there unless the Giants find a better man.

YANKS OWN ETTEN

Asbury Park, N.J. (AP)—New York Yankees now own first baseman Nick Etten, definitely and positively, manager Joe McCarthy announced Thursday after talking with president Ed Barrow in New York.

"The deal with the Phils has been settled," said McCarthy. "Some details yet remain to be settled as there are one or two players involved whose names can't be announced yet."

It was inferred that the players involved might be two Yankees, or Yankee farm hand players, who may be turned over to the Phils if Ed Levy and Allen Gettel do not report to the Phils.

Greco in Return Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Pte. Johnny Greco, Montreal, and Cleo Shans, California negro, collide in their return brawl tonight.

They had their first get-together a month ago and Greco came through with a decision. The fireworks were so fancy, in fact, that the gate for this second showing is expected to bounce right over the $50,000 mark, with some 16,000 cash customers contributing. This is quite a sum when you consider that Greco has had only one previous "top" spot in the garden and Shans has had but two. Johnny is a 5 to 9 favorite.

Paul Thompson Says He Will Quit Hockey

CHICAGO (AP)—Paul Thompson, manager of Chicago Black Hawks, has left for his Calgary home declaring he was through with hockey, but Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, club owner, believes he may change his mind.

"Paul was saddened by his failure to reach the Stanley Cup playoffs," McLaughlin said. "and declared he was through with managing and with hockey. I can't tell how Paul feels now, or if, indeed, there will be hockey for anybody next season, but I always have, and always will have, great confidence in him as a manager. I am sure his depression will pass."

Bush Jackson Stars

EDMONTON (CP)—Paced by Busher Jackson of Victoria Dominions 'ame, Edmonton's R.C.A.F. Manning Depot basketball squad led all the way to defeat Raymond Union Jacks 67 to 44 Thursday night in the first game of a two-game total-point series for the Alberta championship.

The airman will carry a 23-point lead into the second game of the series Saturday night.

Jackson scored 23 points for the airman as they took a lead in the opening quarter and were never headed.

Mrs. Wills Roark Will Play No More Tennis

MANHATTAN, Kas. (AP)—Several bones were removed from the right hand of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody Roark, former national and Wimbledon tennis champion, in an operation at the Fort Riley, Kas., hospital.

Mrs. Roark, wife of Lieut. Adrian Roark, suffered hand injuries Jan. 14 in Junction City, Kas., when she attempted to halt a fight between her German shepherd and another dog.

Physicians said Mrs. Roark may never regain complete use of the hand. She has played no competitive tennis for some time but has appeared in exhibition and charity matches.

Kennedy's Goal Wins Ice Duel

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES
CALGARY—Giving full value for the win, but lucky because it involved a disputed goal, Victoria Army squared the Alberta-B.C. Allan cup hockey series at a game each with a 2 to 1 victory before a crowd of 4,000 in the Calgary arena Thursday night. Calgary's Currie Army had won the first game 6 to 4 and the western hockey finalists go into Saturday's third game on even footing.

All the scoring was crammed into the third period and after Don Deacon had solved through for a Calgary marker, Joffre Desilets clipped the inside of the post on a wing shot from a relay by Bill Carse. Sammy Kennedy scored the winner picking the corner with another wing shot after Pinky Melnyk had set up the scoring play.

The Victoria Army team had pretty well dominated the play throughout the first two periods as the Calgary strategy apparently favored a scheme of letting the coast champions play themselves out. But the Vics didn't tire and came up with a brand of forechecking that had the Currie soldiers in continual difficulty. Only the stellar goal tending of Frank McCool kept the Victoria team scoreless until half way through the third period.

DISPUTED GOAL

The disputed score came late in the third period on an Andy Chakowski-Alex Kaleta. Tommy Anderson break that left Goaler Art Rice-Jones as the lone defender.

Art left his goal and dropped to block Anderson's shot but the puck rebounded from the goalie, hit Tommy's body and lobbed into the open cage. Rice-Jones intercepted Referee Albert Pudas on his way to the timer's bench to report the score and after the two referees and conferred the score was not allowed.

Victoria Army definitely were in command of the game, probably the closest checking affair played at the Calgary rink this winter.

There were only three really good scoring chances in the first period and all of them were Victoria's as defenceman Doug Lane blocked two from Bill Carse and Melnyk while McCool robbed Melnyk on another golden opportunity.

Victoria continued to give the Calgary goal plenty of anxious moments through the second and Rice-Jones came through on the two occasions the Curries became dangerous. He blocked from Ken Stewart and prevented a score on a Don Culley-Kaleta break.

The forte of the B.C. champs was in their forward lines, and the attack was always dangerous and also, through the medium of forechecking, took care of everything Calgary had to offer. Even in the closing stages, when Currie put more into the offensive, the Victoria team were in command.

1943 Income Tax Due But Forms Not Here

With first instalment of 1943 income tax due March 31 for many Victorians who do not have their taxes deducted at the source, Victoria revenue officers were at a loss to know what to do today. Many citizens have called at the office to make the payments, no forms on which the payment should be made are available.

Revenue officers here have had no instructions from Ottawa about collection of the tax. To accommodate the public they are permitting payment without the standard form but with a letter. Thousands of Victorians making more than $600 if unmarried or $1,200 if married, who are in business for themselves, are professional men, or living from income derived from investments, must now pay one-fifth of their estimated total tax for 1943.

Revenue officers understand the first quarterly payment is 20 per cent, the next two payments 25 per cent and the last payment 30 per cent.

Citizens who do not have the Dominion Income tax deducted at the source are required to estimate their 1943 income, calculate the income tax and make the first payment now.

With no precedent on which to work and without official instructions, revenue officers have been telling citizens, many of whom become irate on learning the forms are not available, to either call back later for the forms or make the calculations without them.

Payments may be made in cash at the Victoria office in the Weller Building, Broad and Courtney Streets.

No Suet for Next Year's Puddings

Housekeepers looking forward to their suet puddings next Christmas will probably be disappointed since a new government regulation put into effect March 15 requires the stripping of all beef of its fat at the packing plant before it reaches the butcher.

Government needs this fat in the making of glycerine and materials of war.

First carload of defatted beef arrived in Victoria this morning. It retained all its natural fat, but suet fat had been taken off before shipping. Most butchers, who carry chopped suet only at Christmas time, report they have none at all and beef sold in the future will have only the natural fat of the cut.

With expected meat rationing on April 1 it will be a lucky dog that gets a bone for supper. Where formerly butchers gave away bones with orders, in the future these will be sold for soup bones. With the shortage of canned dog foods, dogs will have to live mainly on dehydrated foods unless owners sacrifice some of their share.

Mr. Justice H. I. Bird in Supreme Court Thursday afternoon dismissed the claim of Lloyd Charles Ritter against Philip W. Paskin for $10,000 damages for alleged breach of contract in a dogfish liver reduction enterprise. Plaintiff claimed for loss of profits and loss of use of a boat he reportedly contributed to the venture.

Town Topics

Two Saanich motorists were fined $5 each in police court Thursday for driving without driver's licenses. A third motorist was fined $10 for exceeding a school zone speed limit.

Victoria wood and sawdust fuel dealers have been invited to a meeting with the city's fuel committee in the City Council Chamber Wednesday night at 7. The meeting follows one with coal dealers Wednesday.

Householders, especially on the waterfront, are still not meeting without regulations which require all windows be shaded at night. Inspector A. H. Bishop, Victoria A.R.P. controller, said today. He described the business district district as good.

Roderick Fraser, a naval rating, who Thursday pleaded guilty of stealing from his roommate, another sailor, at a Victoria seamen's hostel, a suit, valued at more than $25, was today sentenced by Magistrate H. C. Hall to 30 days hard labor.

Spring came to the Times office this morning in the shape of a bouquet of wild lilacs and bluebells. They were picked on Irvine estate, Cedar Hill, Thursday, by Mrs. Florence Irvine, who was celebrating her 81st birthday, and her two grandchildren, Dorothy and Lorraine Irvine.

The annual meeting of the British Columbia branch, St. John Ambulance Association, will be held at the Empress Hotel tomorrow evening at 8:30. R. J. Filberg, president, will be in the chair. All those interested in the work of St. John Ambulance Association and brigade are invited to attend.

The city zoning board of appeal Thursday granted conditional approval to Lee Due for plans and specifications covering conversion of 1246 Balmoral Road into a two-family dwelling. Mrs. E. L. Ledger's appeal for permission to enclose a veranda at 1788 Bay Street was disallowed.

R. W. Mayhew, M.P., by telegram today accepted Mayor Andrew McGavin's request that he attend the meeting of the Board of Transport Commissioners in Ottawa April 2. At the meeting the board will consider the suggestion Trans-Canada Air Lines extend its passenger and parcel service to Victoria.

Red Cross Headquarters at 602 Broughton Street is very anxious to get in touch with the following people: Mrs. Blanche Collins, whose address was given as Langford, B.C.; Arthur Druet, formerly R.R. 1, Palmers Station; Hans Grove-White, camp chaplain, somewhere in British Columbia; Mrs. Charles Backlund, formerly of Yorkton, Sask., and Axel Hansen, formerly Moresby Island, B.C. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of any of the above is asked to get in touch with the Red Cross at 602 Broughton Street, Phone B3159.

Ontario Seeking 500 Japs From B.C.

TORONTO (CP)—Agriculture Minister P. M. Dewar of Ontario announced today that 500 Canadian-born Japanese were brought to this province for the sugar beet season, "providing we can get that number and the sugar beet acreage is such that they are required."

He said the Japanese, most of them unmarried, would be established in camps in the Kent County area, where sugar beets are grown.

The federal government would pay the cost of bringing the Japanese from the west coast and returning them, he said. The province would pay incidental costs, but on the whole it would amount to a 50-50 cost proposition between the two governments.

Wages would correspond roughly to farm wages in the county and the Japanese would be charged about 75 cents a day for board.

Paper Mill Reduces To 5 1/2 Days Per Week

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)—Starting Monday, the pulp and paper mill of the Powell River Company will operate five and two-thirds days per week, the management announced today in a notice which said "it is evident our supply of logs will be on a curtailed basis for some weeks."

Two of the mill's seven paper machines were shut down Feb. 1 and an additional machine is to be closed. It was emphasized the schedule was contingent on the arrival of logs now en route from the Queen Charlotte Islands before March 31.

Union officials are co-operating with the management in working out a schedule that will absorb employees affected by suspended operations of the machines.

Humphreys Replies To Liquor Critic

Henry Humphreys, Tweedsmuir Mansions, today replied to "Only a Soldier's Mother," who challenged his protest to R. W. Mayhew, M.P., at Ottawa, against provincial liquor regulations.

Mr. Humphreys quoted the "soldier's mother" as writing: "I was disgusted with your grumbling because you can only get 26 ounces of liquor. Do you ever stop to think what the people in England are going without. I think we in Canada are very lucky to have the luxuries we have. Very soon we will be standing in line not for liquor but for something to eat. It makes my blood boil when I read of such things when my sons are wading through mud and cold fighting for such people. There has been more kicking in the paper over the liquor question than there has been over food rationing. Why don't you try drinking tomato juice? It would be better for your health."

To the foregoing Mr. Humphreys issued the following reply: "It may interest this woman to know that I have not only relations fighting in this war, but I have already lost one grandson and one nephew flying over France and one nephew torpedoed and drowned in a troopship. In addition to which I have a son-in-law a prisoner of war in Hongkong and my wife has a sister, a niece, two brothers and their wives also interned in Hongkong as prisoners of war."

"It also may interest this woman to know that in England one can obtain gin, whisky and beer or stout at any time except during business hours. Likewise that one can drink alcohol with their meals, which is more than can be said of Canada."

Greek Cafes Give $1,000 to Red Cross

More than $1,000, the entire revenue of 11 Victoria cafes taken between 11 and 5 Thursday, today was turned over to the Red Cross as the contributions of Greek restaurant keepers on Greece's Independence Day.

The anniversary of the Greek revolution was celebrated Thursday night at a dinner served to 200 guests at the A.O.F. Hall. Motion pictures shown after the dinner were followed by dancing. The Greek dances were led by Mrs. O. Metro.

Prizes presented at the dinner included the Ahepa Cup, won by Louie J. Harris of the Paris Cafe, and a fancy cushion, won by Mrs. Mary Baylis.

Co-operative Plan For 500 Cords Wood

Kinsmen Club has given the club wood committee the go ahead signal on a plan to bring to Victoria 500 cords of fuel wood for distribution to club members and friends. Jack Price, wood committee chairman, announced today.

Mr. Price said it was not the intention of the club to go into the wood business, but in view of a possible wood shortage next winter, the clubmen plan to stock up now. Exact details of the cutting and hauling of the wood to Victoria have not been worked out, Mr. Price said.

He estimated the 500 cords would supply approximately 165 households next winter. The wood will be cut in up-island forests.

No Powdered Milk Cargo for Belgium

LONDON (CP)—The British government has informed Hubert Pierlot, premier and minister of national defence of the Belgian government in London, that the United States and Great Britain cannot comply with his request to allow the freighter Caritas to carry a cargo of powdered milk to Belgium on her next voyage.

The ministry of economic warfare said that to grant Pierlot's request would be contrary to Allied policy of banning shipments of foodstuffs to Axis-occupied countries.

CREDIT UNIONS

Executive of Victoria Chapter of Credit Unions met to consider preparations for B.C. Credit Union League convention to be held in Victoria June 25 and 26. Representatives from 80 credit unions organized in the province will attend. A convention committee from all affiliated credit unions in Victoria was appointed as follows: Finance, Miss O. Dixon, M. Wetmore; billing, G. Brown, P. Mulcahy; halls and publicity, Mrs. T. Belton, J. Grant; entertainment and reception, Mrs. E. Barnes, Mrs. Fallick, Mrs. D. Newell and Mr. McGregor; program, J. Notley, Mrs. A. Jobling.

Obituaries

Mrs. Eva Mason, 78, Native Daughter, Dies

Death occurred Thursday at her home, 1529 Fell Street, of Mrs. Eva Mason, 78, who was born here and had lived here all her life.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sinclair, originally from Scotland, who came to Victoria from Minnesota during the American Civil War. They were pioneer farmers in Cadboro Bay, and Sinclair Road, which ran through their property, was named after them.

Mrs. Mason leaves three sons, William John, Victoria; Robert James, Duncan, and George Sinclair, London, England; four daughters, Mrs. E. Shanks and Mrs. D. Morry, Victoria; Mrs. H. J. ## Hairdressers Seek Stricter Closing

Amendment of the existing by-law covering closing hours for hairdressing shops in Victoria is sought in a petition from the local members of the Hairdressers' Association of British Columbia filed today for consideration by the City Council.

The petition states existing regulations permit customers in a shop to complete a purchase provided they are in the shop prior to the closing hour. That the hairdressers explain, works a hardship on them. It takes, they note, three hours to provide a permanent wave. If a customer is in the shop prior to the 6 o'clock closing time, some employee might be forced to remain until 9 to complete the job.

The amendment sought would retain 6 as the closing hour but require customers to be out by 7. On Wednesday an hour's leeway would be given for the usual 1 o'clock closing in cases where a hairdressing operation was under way.

At the same time the business seeks exemption from closing-hour regulations from Dec. 15 to 31 inclusive, with the exception of holidays in that period.

Drinkers Adjusted To Less Liquor

Liquor situation is settling down and there are comparatively few disappointed persons these days.

Queues are still forming outside both Victoria liquor stores before the opening hour, but within the hour of sale most of the customers are taken care of. What the situation will be like on April 1, when thousands of permits are good again, it is difficult to say.

Chief complaint this week has come from beer drinkers who have stood in line at Humboldt Street store, only to be told, when they reach the counter, that that store has no beer and to go to Johnston Street store.

Clubs are feeling the pinch. One well-known club is open only from noon to 2 p.m. Beer parlors are still closing when their beer runs out, which may be anywhere from 8 to 10 p.m. Legal closing time is 11 p.m.

The final lecture in the series for schoolchildren will be given at the Provincial Museum tomorrow morning at 9:30 and 11. The talk entitled "Indian Masks and Music" will be given by Dr. C. Clifford Carl and will be illustrated by examples of Indian handicrafts and by motion pictures. Schoolchildren without tickets will be admitted so long as room is available.

SHARROCKS — William Sharrocks, 60, of 723 Yates Street, died Thursday at St. Joseph's Hospital. He was born in Lancaster, England, and had lived in Nanaimo 30 years before moving to Victoria nine months ago. He was a member of B.T.O.E. No. 26, Nanaimo. Rev. G. H. Greenhalgh will conduct the service Saturday at 5:15 in Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Burial at Royal Oak.

PERKINS — At the Royal Jubilee Hospital Thursday the death occurred of Ralph J. Perkins, 61, of 3859 Carey Road, a native of England and a resident of Saanich for three months. He came here from Galt, Ont., where he had lived for 34 years. Mr. Perkins served in the first Great War. He leaves his wife, four sons, Victor and Frederick in Victoria, Stanley, Niagara Falls, and Gordon with the Army Tank Regiment now overseas; one brother, Stanley, in England, and four grandchildren. The funeral will be held in the chapel of Sands Mortuary Monday at 1:30. Rev. O. L. Jull officiating. Burial at Royal Oak.

LOHBRUNNER — At St. Joseph's Hospital, Thursday, the death occurred of Mrs. Elizabeth Lohbrunner, 81, of 710 Connaught Street. Born in Bavaria, she had lived here for 55 years. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. C. O. Richards and Mrs. E. S. Cottle, Victoria; five sons, Max, Joseph and Edmund, in Victoria; Louis, Seattle, and A. Lohbrunner, San Francisco; six grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Funeral will be held Saturday at 3:30 from the S. J. Curry and Son Funeral Home. Rev. James Hood officiating. Cremation at Royal Oak.

EAST — Many friends attended the funeral Thursday in the chapel of Sands Mortuary for Mrs. Catherine East, Rev. K. L. Sandcock officiating. Burial at Colwood. Pallbearers: R. Shanks, W. Erickson, T. Hooper, T. L. Crosson, G. Neale and A. Boston.

MATHESON — Rev. J. L. W. McLean will officiate at the funeral of Colin Sutherland Matheson Saturday morning at 10:30 in Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Burial at Colwood.

Twin 'J' Mines Produce in April

Twin "J" Mines, which have taken over the Tye Consolidated Mines Ltd., whose properties are south of Nanaimo, hope to be in production next month, according to a statement made by E. M. Thompson, president of Jason Mines Ltd., of Toronto, parent company of Twin "J".

Mr. Thompson announced that the Department of Munitions and Supply has provided $228,500 for capital expenditures, needed to bring the Twin "J" into production. The operating costs, will also be paid by the Crown. Jason Mines Ltd., has agreed to manage and operate the mine for $500 a month. Twin "J" will receive for all metal produced the following payments: Copper 1.65 cents a pound, zinc 55 cents a pound and lead 45 cents a pound. In addition the government credits the following payments: 1.35c a pound of copper, .60 a pound of zinc, .675c a pound of lead in American funds to retire the capital advanced.

The contract with the Tye provides that all the advances by Jason Mines Limited shall be repaid out of the first profits.

A concentrator of 4,000 tons a month capacity will be erected with ore in sight for about two years' operation, Mr. Thompson said. It is hoped to expand this ore further so that, as well as helping to fill present requirements of metals, a peacetime operation might develop.

August Racing Benefits Listed

Reasons for favoring August racing in Victoria in preference to June are put forward by S. W. Randall, Colwood Park Association Ltd., in a letter to Mayor Andrew McGavin placed on file today.

Mr. Randall states the June date would conflict with prairie racing, increase the difficulty of securing jockeys and result in a lower take than would the fall.

The Civic Employees' Federation of Greater Victoria by letter today renewed its request to City Council for a meeting with a committee of the council other than the finance group. Grounds for the meeting are suggested in the arbitration board report following the hearing held here last year.

Mayor Lucien Borne, Quebec, today headed another list of chief magistrates and other dignitaries who have forwarded messages of good will to Victoria on the city's 100th birthday. Greetings also came from Mayor Roy W. Tarrion, Compton, Cal.; Bishop Harold E. Sexton, and Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E.

More Speed Sought On Building Permits

Victoria's land committee will renew its efforts to secure speed in handling applications for building licenses in this city. Aid: T. W. Hawkins, chairman of the committee, said today.

Meeting Thursday the committee considered further protests from Victorians over delays in securing approval for construction they desire. Those protests, Aid. Hawkins noted, supported his earlier motion to the City Council asking Ottawa for establishment of an approval office in Victoria to avoid delays.

Among other things, the alderman said, the existing system jeopardizes city land sales and is tying up several deals now pending.

Lambing Season Now At Macdonald Park

It depends on point of view. To the poetic, Macdonald Park today presents a vernal idyll, with new-born lambs scampering over the enclosure. To the materialist, the scene shows promise of financial returns for the outlay on sheep.

A dozen ewes were purchased for the park last year to crop the grass, save mowing expenses and provide fertilizer. During the winter there was no grass. Feed had to be purchased. Now there appears to be hopes of returns.

A pair of twins were born today at the park, the seventh set of double births in the last two weeks. They may gambol on the green, when the green appears.

On the other hand there is talk of meat rationing.

B.C. Coal Shortage Plan Goes to Ottawa

Hon. E. C. Carson, Minister of Mines, said today he had taken up with Ottawa authorities the serious coal shortage in British Columbia.

He said his department had presented definite plans to the emergency coal production board and that a reply is expected shortly.

The minister will go to Ottawa in a month and he intends to discuss the coal situation at that time.

No General Election

OTTAWA (CP) — Information from government circles that the redistribution bill will not be brought into the House of Commons for some time—probably not until after the Easter recess—is taken as an indication Prime Minister King does not plan a general election this year.

Under the constitution, a redistribution of the federal constituencies based on the latest census shall be made every 10 years. One official said Mr. King was so particular in following the practices of the constitution that he would not consent to a general election until a redistribution based on the census of 1941 is completed.

Lawyers Protest New Jack Benny Show

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — "The Meanest Man in the World," Jack Benny's latest film, will go into court Saturday for judicial review, on complaint of five attorneys that "it mocks the legal profession and presents a very indecent picture of the profession to the public eye."

The lawyers' complaint, filed in Superior Court before the issuance of the order, alleged that Benny's film "debases, defames and disgraces the legal profession," and creates the impression that the "only successful lawyer is the one who is mean."

Alaska Railroad Exists Only On Paper

WASHINGTON — Unless there is need from the military point of view, there is not a chance of the Alaska-British Columbia railroad being built until after the war.

An official who knows showed a big map, 20 feet long and 10 feet deep, and so high up on the wall that a ladder is used to inspect the route paper. Every barrier and elevation is marked in bold relief, and this is an accepted and accredited engineer's product. Looking at it from a distance, the Alaska highway parallels it from Grand Prairie to Fort Nelson, where the highway swings sharply west to cross it at Lower Post. The distance across the Rocky Mountains to Prince George looks very short on the map.

The rail route will pick up at the Parson and follow through to and along the Finlay River to Sifton Summit, when it will cross to the east side of the mountains and follow the Kachika River to the Lard and Metson Lake. It runs on the map due north to Francis Lake, and then northwesterly along the Pelley and the Lewes to Ladue and Dawson.

There are such champions of the railroad here as Congressmen W. G. Magnusson and A. J. Dimond, who are familiar with the natural terrain along the route. They state they were keen to see B.C. at the work of hooking up the provincial-owned Pacific Great Eastern from Quesnel to Prince George so that the north and south railway line from Mexico to Alaska will become a reality in the quickest possible time.

The Alaska Highway base is reported here as not any too promising for the first 300 miles. If some floating material could be found to surface it, it would become an all-season road. It might be also given over to a railway, if and when the time comes.

In looking at this life-sized map today, it seemed to news-writers a very short piece from Russia to Alaska. It is not very far, either, from the end of the present survey to the Tin City, Alaska, which is divided by the Bering Strait from Uelen, the Russian port.

Spokesmen here say that an immigration policy of the future for Canada will have the road of the northland to consider, and perhaps it will bring better results for those who struggle and survive its rigors, and who will, at the end of it, find work and happiness in the settling of the inland empire of the Canadian northland along these Alaska roads and rail-lines.

'Moscow' Film Coming Test Case

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD—Don't be surprised if isolationists, anti-administration congressmen and other politicians in Washington cut loose with terrific attacks on the film version of ex-Ambassador Joseph E. Davies' "Mission to Moscow" when the picture is released this spring. When the barbs start flying, the answer from Warner Bros. will be that every line of the script is substantiated by photostatic copies of documents from Uncle Sam's State Department. . . . It may prove to be the first real test case as to whether the screen is going to be allowed to grow up and be a voice in the world's affairs or will have to go back to penthouse dramas and dime store boy-meets-girl stories.

Cruikshank Wins North-South Golf

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Bobby Cruikshank of Richmond, Va. won the wartime 41st annual north and south open golf championship Thursday with a total of 292—21 strokes above the 271 with which Ben Hogan won last year when most of the golfing great competed.

The elder professionals found that four rounds over the long championship course put their legs to quite a test. Bobby sprayed a number of second shots during the final round but managed at 75. His four earlier rounds were 71-72-74.

Cruikshank, a veteran of the first Great War, didn't have any strokes to spare. Joe Kirkwood of Philadelphia finished one stroke back at 293. Third place was won by Joe Turnesa of Rockville Center, Conn., with 295. Then Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Center, Conn., with 296, and Johnny Farrell of Baltusrol, N.J., with 298.

Cruikshank won the north and south in 1926 and 1927 when Pinehurst had sand greens.

James T. Hunter of North Adams, Mass., who shares with Cruikshank the distinction of being a grandfather, was low amateur with 314.

Tom Heeney Serves With U.S. Navy Unit

AN ADVANCE BASE IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC (AP)—The old rock from down under—heavyweight Tom Heeney, near champion of 15 years ago—is down under again as ordinary seaman in the United States navy.

Weighed 230 solid pounds, the 44-year-old Heeney is on special service with an athletic unit. Heeney declared in his opinion Jack Sharkey, with whom he went to a 12-round draw in 1928, was the best heavyweight he ever fought.

"How about Tunney?" Gene Tunney, then world champion, knocked out Heeney in 11 rounds at Yankee Stadium July 26, 1928, shortly before he retired.

"Mister Tunney is a commander and my senior officer," Tom replied. "It wouldn't be policy for me to say anything about him."

MISS BETZ CHAMPION

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Pauline Betz, attractive Rollins College student, successfully defended her United States women's indoor singles tennis title Thursday by defeating Miss Katherine Winthrop of Hamilton, 6-4, 6-1, in the finals of the tournament at Longwood covered courts.

Britons Still Get Sport

Racing Schedule Set

LONDON (CP)—Despite a vast pincers' movement against all things extraneous to the war effort, plus the possibility this may be the decisive year of the conflict, England's flat-racing program for the first half of 1943 approximates closely that of last season.

It's just added proof—not that any is needed—that Britain's government considers such sport, along with soccer, boxing, tennis and all the others, as essential to the morale and relaxation of a country fighting for its life.

The racing list, issued by The Jockey Club and approved by government heads, has 39 programs extended over 27 actual racing days, compared with 42 programs in 30 days for the first half of last season. Racing's first half opens at Windsor April 10 and ends July 24.

Only additional track to the five in use last season will be Ascot, royal course which has been without racing for four years. There will be none of the pageantry that featured Ascot in peacetime. For instance, the Gold Cup, star item on the pre-war Ascot turf, will be staged July 7 at Newmarket.

As in 1942, southern England racing will be confined to Windsor, Salisbury and Newmarket, with the addition of Ascot, while Stockton and Pontefract cater to northern crowds.

RUN CLASSICS

Racing again will be confined to regional lines, except for the classics—Derby, Oaks, Two Thousand Guineas and One Thousand Guineas and St. Leger—and the Coronation Cup, Queen Mary Stakes, Coventry Stakes and Gold Cup. All will be run at Newmarket and are open to every stable in Britain.

Premier event—the Derby—takes place June 19, along with the Coventry Stakes. The Oaks will be run the day previous to the Derby. The Two Thousand Guineas runs May 18 with the One Thousand Guineas the following day. Instead of eight meetings, each of two days, Newmarket will have 12 days of racing, two of the meetings are of one day each.

The sport, generally, is concentrated on week-ends.

MIZE HAS MEDICAL

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Johnny Mize, New York Giants' first baseman, took his examination Wednesday for possible induction into the armed forces but officers at the induction centre said the results of his tests would not be known until later in the week.

Until the results are known no decision will be made on his acceptance or rejection.

Mize is 30 years old and married but has no children. He lives in St. Louis.

Lands of the British Empire lie on every continent and within every climatic zone of the habitable world.

Dominion Musical Has Fresh Angle

Because film fans demand a certain amount of reality, it is becoming increasingly difficult to find suitable stories for screen musicals, according to Fred Astaire, who is currently starred with Rita Hayworth at the Dominion Theatre in Columbia's "You Were Never Lovelier."

rhythm-filled new romance with Jerome Kern's greatest score since "Show Boat." Adolphe Menjou and Xavier Cugat and his orchestra are important members of the cast.

In "You Were Never Lovelier," Astaire appears as a famous Broadway dancer in South America, where he is unable to obtain a job. Miss Hayworth is the daughter of a hotel-keeper, whose Sky Room is the show spot of the town. "Such new angles on backstage stories are becoming much tougher to find," according to Astaire.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES

Anthony Mann, noted Broadway stage and radio producer-director, has completed his second motion picture in Hollywood. It is Universal's "Moonlight in Havana," co-starring Allan Jones and Jane Frazee.

The new film, a romantic musical, currently at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. Mann's first cinema venture was the recent "Dr. Broadway."

"Moonlight in Havana" was made under the guidance of Associate Producer Bernard W. Burton. Marjorie Lord, Don Terry, William Frawley and other celebrities are in the large cast.

YORK THEATRE

Richard Quine, who appears prominently in the cast of Columbia's "My Sister Eileen," now at the York Theatre with Rosalind Russell, Brian Aherne and Janet Blair starred, is a member of the original Broadway cast of the hilarious comedy. Gordon Jones, who also is to be seen in the screen version, was another member of the Max Gordon Company when the play opened two years ago.

CADET THEATRE

More than thirty catchy song numbers, ranging from old ragtime favorites and Negro spirituals and "blues" to modern swing tunes, are featured in "Syncopation," William Dieterle's new musical drama for RKO Radio, and now at the Cadet Theatre. Adolphe Menjou, Jackie Cooper, Bonita Granville and George Bancroft are headliners, along with the All-American Dance Band.

RIO THEATRE

The series of musical westerns starring Gene Autry are played in more theatres than those of any other star, and, moreover, are replayed over and over again because of public demand. "South of the Border," for instance, was screened seven different times in one Canadian theatre! Gene's latest picture, "Cowboy Serenade," a Republic production, is now at the Rio Theatre.

Soldiers Punished At Medicine Hat

OTTAWA (CP)—The Defence Department reports in a return tabled in the House of Commons at the request of J. S. Roy, Ind., Gaspe, Que., that 45 soldiers were punished, for absenting themselves from work at Medicine Hat, Alta., on a Sunday morning on the ground that they went to church.

The report said it was not in the interest of the men to give their names. They were members of the 15th Field Company, Royal Canadian Engineers, 275 of whom were working on the construction of an internment camp.

The work had been held up by lack of labor and bad weather and it was urgent the place be made safe for an expected arrival of prisoners of war. Saturday an order was issued that work should continue on Sunday and a church parade was canceled.

The men were to report at 9 a.m., but 24 failed to report and 21 others reported in battle dress instead of fatigue (working) clothes. These 21 were ordered to return to barracks, change their clothes and report for work immediately. They returned to barracks, but did not come back until noon, when the other 24 reported for work.

The 24 were charged with absenting themselves from parade and the 21 with disobeying an order. As punishment one man was reverted from lance-corporal to sapper and 44 forfeited 28 days' pay.

The commanding officer was Maj. J. C. Byrn and the section officers who laid the charges were Lieuts. S. Franklyn and T. A. V. Tremblay.

Name Controller For Plane Factory

LONDON (CP)—The ministry of aircraft production has appointed K. A. Layton-Bennett controller for General Aircraft Ltd., the second firm to be the target of government action within a week.

He held the same post at Short Brothers Ltd., a few days until the government assumed full control. It was announced Monday that the government was taking over the shares of Short Brothers, builders of Sunderland flying boats and Stirling bombers.

General Aircraft produces plane parts and formerly turned out trainers.

Dorothy Dix:

Girl Must Turn on Pressure When Boy Lags Over Proposal

A woman wants to know how she can induce a man to ask her to marry him. So would a few million other women who are tired of sitting on the anxious seat waiting for dilatory "steadies" to come to the point. It is probably the riddle that the Sphinx still hides in her stony bosom, for no woman has ever told by what means she led her husband up to the proposing point. Even he doesn't know. He only knows that just about the time that he thought he was safely entrenched in his bachelorhood he found himself buying an engagement ring, but he hasn't any idea of how it happened. It was just one of those things.

Of course, every woman likes to pretend that she was coy and standoffish, and that it was only after a long and persistent wooing that her husband broke down her sales resistance and she consented to let him undertake her support for life. But, as a matter of fact, this rarely happens in real life. Negligly always it is the woman who sees the man first whom she wants for a husband and who does the fine work of totting him along to the altar. Even when a man is in love with a girl and wants to marry her he is generally in no hurry about it. He feels he can just let the matter ride and that any old time will be soon enough to call in the parson.

SOME-DAY WEDDINGS NEVER HAPPEN

But the girl knows that she hasn't any time to waste. She has to make her matrimonial hay while the sun of her youth and beauty shines, and if she doesn't gather in her harvest then, the chances are she never will. For the some-day wedding generally never takes place at all.

But how to do it? That's the question that causes many a woman sleepless nights, for it is a ticklish job trying to make up a man's mind for him and cause him to see that marriage is his dish, instead of something that he is allergic to, and that she is the woman who can cook it up for him.

Naturally different women use different methods in trying to speed up their slow-going boy friends who seem to have bogged down into a this-is-pleasant-enough-why-change attitude, but whether they work or not depends upon how accurately they have guessed their men.

Some women, for instance, try the jealousy cure. After having let Tom monopolize her society for years and camp on her parlor chairs and eat her mother's Sunday dinners while she waited for the proposal that never came, Patient Griselda ceases to be patient and issues a put-up-or-shut-up ultimatum. She springs a rival on him. She breaks dates. She shuts her door in his face. Or goes off on a long trip.

JOLTS LAGGARD SUITOR INTO PROPOSAL

If the laggard suitor has ever had any serious intentions, this wakes him up like an alarm clock in his car. He perceives that his pleasant relationship with Griselda in which he had the solace of her society and an agreeable place in which to spend his evenings without having to pay her bills, cannot go on forever. She is tired of waiting on him and has called time. And so he screws up his courage to say "will you be mine."

Many another woman gets her man by chasing him until she catches him. A woman meets a man, who, for some reason or other, takes her fancy, and she determines to have him for her own. Thereupon she begins her pursuit. She bombards him with invitations to dinners, teas, cocktail parties, church sociables, which the poor unsuspecting victim is inveigled into accepting, little wotting the danger he is in. She overwhelms him with dates. She persecutes him with telephone calls. No matter where he goes, she is hot on his tracks, until at last, through sheer exhaustion, he gives in and lets her wrangle a proposal out of him.

Many other men are floated to the altar on women's tears. Many a man, not being in a position to marry and having no craving for domesticity, anyway, becoming aware that some girl is getting that-way about him, tries to break away from her. He quits dating her or showing her any attentions and foolishly congratulates himself that he is safe.

CRY-BABY ACT GETS SOME MEN

But not so. Upon some pretext or other she gets him off by himself and puts on the cry-baby act. She sobs out that he is breaking her heart by his coldness, and she loves him so, and she will die if he leaves her, and before he knows it she is weeping and wailing on the second button of his waistcoat and he is patting her on the back, and saying, "there, there, little girl," and she has him. He leaves that place an engaged man.

These are some of the old-fashioned ways in which our mothers brought our fathers to the popping the question point. No doubt our daughters, who wear slacks and are boss welders, will scorn these roundabout methods and come out flatfooted, any say: "Hi, Bill, how'd you like to tie up with me? I can support you in the style your father always has."

But it doesn't matter how it is done. Any plan is good that works.

Navy Candidates Must Apply Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—All candidates seeking entrance as cadets in the Royal Canadian Naval College at Royal Roads, B.C., should apply to write their examinations not later than March 31, Naval Service headquarters announce.

Applications should be addressed to Secretary, Naval Board, Naval Service Headquarters, Ottawa.

Candidates must be between the ages of 15 years eight months, and 17 years eight months, as of July 1, 1943.

Examinations, to be conducted by the Civil Service Commission throughout Canada, will be of approximately junior matriculation standard, comprising the following subjects: English, French, general knowledge, Algebra, geometry, physics and chemistry.

Viscount Clive Killed

LONDON (CP)—Squad. Ldr. Mervyn Horatio Herbert, 39, Viscount Clive, direct descendant of Clive of India and 17th Baron Darcy de Knayth, has been killed in action. His heir is Hon. Davina Marcia Herbert, his four-year-old daughter. His father is fourth Earl of Powis.

Tarsiers Rob Pitcher Plants of Captured Insects

When Japanese soldiers wander at night through forests of Malaya and the Dutch East Indies, they may now and then see the large gleaming eyes of a small animal.

The animal is known as the "tarsier," a name which came from its overgrown ankle bones. An idea of the small size of a tarsier is gained from the fact that a man could hold one of them in the palm of his hand. He might even hold two of them in his hand, a mother and baby together.

Whether a tarsier would be willing to stay in a man's hand is another matter. Most likely not. Animals of this kind are very shy. Efforts to keep them alive in zoos have failed.

Tarsiers are related to the monkey family, and have been called half-apes. Perhaps they might better be spoken of as "half-monkeys," since their tails and small size set them aside from the well-known apes. Chimps, orangs and gorillas have no tails.

Close relatives of tarsiers are the lemurs on the Island of Madagascar. Sometimes they are classed as members of the lemur family, but they are not true lemurs.

The Malay Peninsula is the only part of any continent where tarsiers are to be found. Otherwise we must look for them on islands near Asia, such as Java, Borneo and Sumatra.

With its large ears and goggle eyes, the tarsier makes an odd-looking sight—when it can be seen. If you wish to have a good view of a living tarsier, you probably will have to go into the region where it lives—after the Japanese go back home.

You will need to choose a moonlit night to see a tarsier, since these animals hide away and sleep during the daytime. Even then, you may not have the fortune to see one before it sees you and gets to cover.

Insects and small lizards are the chief food of tarsiers. Often they seek out pitcher plants and rob them of the insects which the plants have captured!

It is hard to say whether a tarsier has four feet or four hands. Each of its feet, or hands, is well-fitted for grasping, and has a kind of thumb. There are pads on the "fingers" and these give further power to cling to branches. The tarsier is an expert at jumping from limb to limb.

Your Manners

1. When you hand a letter to your houseguest should you say, "Here's a letter from your husband?"
2. When you invite a woman whose husband has gone to war to dinner is it all right to have a man guest for the evening?
3. Should you assume that a woman whose husband has gone to war will be interested in dating?
4. Should you make gloomy predictions about how long you think the war will last to a woman whose husband is already in a foreign country?
5. Is it good manners to have feelings that are easily hurt? What would you do if—Your husband has gone to war—

- (a) Give up entertaining the husbands and wives you used to see a lot and concentrate on entertaining lone women?
- (b) Keep on entertaining your old friends—even though there is no host in your home?

ANSWERS

1. No. Say, "Here's a letter for you." The other sounds as though you are prying into her affairs.
2. Certainly.
3. No.
4. No.
5. No. Better "What Would You Do" solution—(b).

Planes Grounded, Ships Useless—If
No planes could fly — no battleship could go into action — no factory could turn out war goods — if there were no packings. Now you may not know very much about packings, but it is this material, for example, which keeps the water pump in your car from leaking. And an important part of Johns-Manville business is the manufacture of asbestos packings, which are essential to the operation of almost all kinds of machinery.

Through 70 years of research and development, Johns-Manville packings have kept pace with the improvements in mechanical equipment. Today they make possible the high speeds and dependable performance so necessary — in the production of guns, tanks and almost all materials of war — and in the operation of armoured vehicles, combat planes and naval units of modern warfare.

Hollywood Suicide Pact
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dorothy Spensley, 40, Hollywood film magazine writer, and her mother, Mrs. Myrtle Spensley, 65, were found dead Thursday in each other's arms, the victims, detectives said, of a suicide pact. Miss Spensley wrote under the name of Sidney Ryan. A note indicated illness and fear of poverty was the motive. The women had taken poison.

Conservation Groups To Work Together

Linking of the Canadian Conservation Association and the Society for the Preservation of Native Plants was announced by Mrs. Hugh MacKenzie, president of the society, at the annual meeting held Thursday at the Provincial Museum.

Mrs. MacKenzie said the nation-wide association had asked the society to suggest projects for co-operative study. The meeting was told the society's suggestion municipalities establish as postwar rehabilitation projects their own wood lots to maintain a continuous supply of firewood and to provide during rehabilitation employment had received considerable support of the B.C. Forestry Service.

Officers of the society were unanimously re-elected. They are: Mrs. Hugh MacKenzie, president; F. B. Pemberton, past president; Miss Ellen Hart, secretary; Ald. John Worthington, treasurer; Mrs. M. F. Driscoll, Mrs. J. W. Church, Mrs. T. M. Knox, Mrs. P. Lampman, Mrs. Thorpe-Double, Mrs. J. W. Benning, Dr. Clifford Carl and G. Hardy.

Ald. Worthington presented the treasurer's report, which showed a substantial bank balance, while Mr. Pemberton reported complete agreement with the Parks Board as to which Beacon Hill Park trees should be cut.

Thanks were extended the president and those who held office last year and Dr. Carl for use of his office for meetings.

Says B.C. North 'Promised Land'

Describing it as a country rich in both agricultural and mineral resources, Dr. T. B. Williams, petroleum engineer who had charge of oil drilling operations for the B.C. government at Compton Creek, told the Kinsmen Club Thursday night the north central section of B.C. was a "Promised Land," especially for Canadian youth.

Dr. Williams believes this area is now on the eve of a development such as no part of this continent has witnessed for some years. He said the climate was no barrier to development and the soil, notably on the B.C.-Alberta border, has produced the world's finest grains.

Oil, he said, is present in various fields, and coal, as fine as any found in North America, has been located. Iron and other ores capable of large-scale production had been found. Transportation difficulties were being mounted, he said.

Americans on the Alcan Highway were fascinated by the country, he said, and were predicting a population of 30,000 to 40,000 at Dawson Creek within a few years after the war.

Dr. Williams said the Pacific Coast industrial centres could not afford to leave this country open only from the southeast Steps should be taken to connect it with coast cities, he said.

Dr. Arthur Poyntz presided in the absence of W. G. Passmore, president. Dr. Williams was introduced by Pat Mulcahy and thanked by Bob Hoard.

Thousands Have Been Invited to Make This Flavour Test—Only 7 Have Disagreed

● Hundreds of thousands of Canadians have been invited to put Libby's "Gentle Press" Tomato Juice to this taste-test. If you don't agree that it is the best Tomato Juice you have ever tasted Libby's will pay you double the purchase price. All you need to do is to return the label with your name and address. Thousands have made this test and only 7 have disagreed and received double their money back.

You are invited, too. You'll get the same taste-thrill... that delicious, just-off-the-vine flavour that has made Libby's Tomato Juice Canada's favorite. This grand flavour is made possible by Libby's "Gentle Press" process, which skillfully retains the precious Vitamins A and C, and the garden-fresh flavour of Libby's prize tomatoes. Make it a daily health habit to serve Libby's "Gentle Press" Tomato Juice—the Juice that's famous for flavour.

Libby's Patented "Gentle Press" Process is also used in making Libby's Catchup and Tomato Soup. Please note: Canada's pack of Tomato Products is adequate—there is no reason to buy more than your immediate needs.
